THE REPEAL PETITION TO THE ENGLISH
PARLIAMENT—OBJECTIONS TO CONFED-ERATION.

The following is the repeal petition :—
“ To the Honorable the Commons of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, in Parliament assembled.
“ The humble petition of the undersigned representatives of the Province of Nova Scotia sheweth, That the Province of Nova in which each separate province enjoyed the largest measure of liberty, while unity of thought and allegiance pervaded the whole. That an

the last session of the Imperial Parliament entitled "An Act for the Union of Canada, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick," where by the institutions under which the

tion of Nova Scotia had thriven and expanded were overthrown and the relations of British America to the Empire materially changed: that the undersigned, about while with a flagrant disregard of all political experience, the frontiers of the dominion are about to be extended beyond the possibility of defence. But the people of Nova Scotia protest against this act of Union because it deprives them of the right of self government long enjoyed and highly prized. It subjects them to enormous cost and great inconvenience by compelling them to transact in a city 800 miles away a vast amount of public business.

formerly despatched in their own capital within easy reach of the whole population. It transfers to the Government at Ottawa powers more extensive than the Queen and the Imperial parliament in practice ever exercised, and rests in that Government which the people of Nova Scotia can rarely hope to influence the entire patronage of the post-office and revenue department and of the light houses and public works constituted at great expense by the people of Nova Scotia. It transfers the owner ship of our Provincial Railways built at a cost of a million and a half of pounds, currency, to the Dominion without equivalent or compensation. It takes from Nova Scotia the regulation of her trade, her banking system, and savings' banks; of her sea coast and inland fisheries, of her militia, of her courts and criminal law. It trans-

fets the customs duties of Nova Scotia always amply sufficient for general and local services and rapidly increasing under a low tariff to Canada for a sum which is now no equivalent and which being limited in amount will establish a perpetual drain upon our resources. As those revenues expand it confers upon the Parliament of Canada the right to burden our trade with the world at large for her own advantage to protect her manufactures and bread-stuffs, and to burden our industry by any mode or system of taxation. It vests in the government of Canada the appointment of our Governors who will thus become the mere tools of the Canadian administration instead of being as they were, the impartial representatives of the Crown; of twelve senators, already appointed by the Canadian Ministers, but one share the opinions of Nova Scotia, and four at least have been purchased by the distinction to change their opinions and betray their country. For these, and many of Union has been and is most distasteful to the people of Nova Scotia, who believe it to be fraught with evil, uncalled for; and against the disposal of the ac-

itself has been aggravated and rendered more intense by the mode in which it was prepared and carried, which the undersigned do not hesitate to characterize as a surprise upon the people of Nova Scotia, and a fraud upon the Imperial Parliament; nothing in the condition of this country rendered revolutionary changes necessary.

Nova Scotia did not demand them, nor was any scheme of government resembling the Dominion Act ever submitted to them at the hustings yet a member of the House of Commons intimated, we charitably assumed, on the second reading of the bill, assured the House that the policy of confederation was brought under the notice of the electors at every polling booth and that at every hustings the issue was distinctly raised. Now that this statement has been brought under the notice of the electors at every polling booth, condemned and negatived at every hustings, the undersigned trust that it will be frankly withdrawn, and that your honorable House will at once cancel the issue.

...the House will at once correct the legislation adopted under so gross a misstatement of facts. The Dominion Act was thus a victory of law over prejudice.

The Repeal Question.

The petition of the Nova Scotia Repealers is a remarkable document. It speaks pretty plainly, rather too plainly of some men and things, to receive that attention from the Imperial authorities which, couched in more respectful language, it might have claimed, and we shall not be surprised if the Hon. Joseph Howe and his co-delegates are sent back with a flea in their ears, and the petition of the Repealers "laid on the table." It is a fact that so far the Repeal Declaration have not met with that cordial reception from the English Liberals which they expected. Indeed, one of the principal organs of that party speaks in the strongest language against the position taken by Messrs. Howe & Co., and condemns in the most emphatic language the agitation for repeal. While the London Spectator states as a matter of principle that the "whole Dominion might go, if it chose to notify such a desire in a legal and constitutional manner," it has no sympathy with the secession of an important part of that Dominion. "To lose a most valuable colony," it says, "without the compensation of freedom from dangers in America; to give up the house-keeping, yet not be rid of the hall; to surrender genuine maritime resources, yet have still to defend provinces without a ship, would be an intolerable position." Becoming more emphatic, it says, "Nova Scotia is probably the only Saxon colony which Great Britain, if pushed to extremity, might be compelled to coerce." England, it adds, "could not submit to alter an imperial policy under provincial menaces, nor could she consent to let Nova Scotia go free; and it winds up with this strong declaration: 'We are not going to repeal Imperial laws of the highest importance under orders from Halifax.' It is pretty clear from this candid avowal that in quarters where Mr. Howe expected assistance he has received nothing but kicks and blows; and there is little doubt that his mission will be a complete failure.

The House Yesterday.

The House yesterday was principally occupied in the discussion of the Militia Bill, introduced by the Minister of Militia. In introducing the Bill, Mr. Cartier explained the provisions of the Bill, which we will give more in detail to-morrow. The Bill divides the strength of the Militia into active and reserved forces. The whole militia force of the Dominion is to be composed of all the male inhabitants from eighteen to sixty years of age who are to be divided into four classes. The first class is to be called upon to serve in the militia—provided the bill passes in its present shape—of those between the ages of 18 and 20 years, unmarried or widowers without children; the second class those between 20 and 45, also unmarried or widowers without children; the third class, married men or widowers with children, between the ages of 45 and 60; and the fourth class will be composed of the same persons between 45 and 60 years of age. In time of peace the number of well trained men in the Dominion will be 40,000. The annual drill will not be less than eight or more than sixteen days; and in order that the regular force may be kept up, the known to their own divisions. The honorable gentleman estimates the number of fighting men in Ontario and Quebec at 60,000, and says that the latter provinces could furnish an additional 100,000 men. This giving a force of the first, and second, and third classes of 100,000 men, ready to spring to arms at a moment's notice to defend their country. Of this number between 60,000 and 70,000 would be land forces, including those on the lake and the St. Lawrence. He said that when this gratifying fact became known to the world it would show that few powers stood higher in a military and naval point of view than the Dominion of Canada. Sea-faring men, however, under the provisions of the proposed bill, would not be called upon to perform any military duty, as they are called upon for the training that could be desired. Upon an emergency the Government would be enabled to call up and call into immediate service a much larger force than 40,000 men, in consequence of the officers of the service militia being compelled to drill with the active force. The annual cost is estimated at $300,000.

A lengthy discussion followed, after which the Bill was read a first time, and ordered to a second reading on Tuesday next.

Opening of Navigation.

The ice is rapidly disappearing, and in a few days we may expect that navigation on all our inland waters will be resumed. The only steamer laid up at this port during the winter, the Rochester, is announced to start for Oswego on Monday, the 18th inst. During the winter this steamer has been thoroughly overhauled. Several new state-rooms have been added, the saloon has been enlarged, she has been newly painted, and in many other respects very much improved. The Rochester is a fine steamer, and under her popular commander we have no doubt will command a large passenger and freight traffic.

The Bay of Quinte will take her old route as soon as the Bay is clear. The Kingston News refers as follows to the improvements made in this steamer as well as the new steamer to take the place of the Corinthian. "The steamer Bay of Quinte is receiving a general overhauling, including engine and boiler. New main decks have been laid down, and the main saloon is completely altered. This vessel will be commanded this year by Mr. Frank Comer, who has filled the office of purser for the past two seasons. The Corinthian, which plied between Port Hope and Rochester having been sold to the Canadian Navigation Company, a new steamer, the Norseman, is being built in Montreal for that route by Mr. Gildersleeve. She will be ready by 1st May, and is to be placed under the command of Captain Carter, who has given every satisfaction as successor to Captain Carroll, on the steamer Bay of Quinte.

The Brue has had several improvements made, including the enlargement of the cylinder, which is expected to add greatly to her speed. There is some talk of this steamer plying between Belleville, Kingston and Cape Vincent. Her route, however, we believe, has not yet been decided upon. We understand there is a likelihood of some steamer-faking the place of the Empress which was burned the other day at Kingston. The St. Helen has also been thoroughly overhauled during the winter, and is said to look nearly as good as new. As soon as the Bay is clear, she will resume her regular trips between Trenton and Montreal.

State of the Militia.

The Report of the Adjutant-General on the state of the Militia, in 1887, was laid before the House on Monday. It shows that since the Spring of 1866, the volunteer force of Ontario and Quebec has increased from 848 companies, with a nominal strength of 19,597 men to 569 companies of 33,754. The men in the force is said for the most part to be fairly efficient, and animated by a good spirit, but it is a fact that the volunteers generally are looking forward with hopeful expectation to the removal by the legislature of those inequalities in the pressure of military service from which they consider themselves to suffer. Experience has convinced the Adjutant-General that the weakest point in the system is the feeling entertained by the men that their military service subjects them to burdens not shared by other classes of the community, and he thinks the only sound basis in a country like Canada is a practical recognition of principle that every man not actually contributing his personal service during any one year should pay a tax in money in proportion. The military schools are spoken of as efficient; 107 drill sheds have been built in Ontario and Quebec.

Special Notice.

We are pleased to observe, by a Card in another column, that Dr. Phillips, Physician for diseases of the Throat and Lungs, (of Toronto) will be at the Dufresne House for consultation, on Saturday, the 11th inst. He is very favorably remembered by many in this vicinity, who have been greatly benefited by his valuable system of treatment by Inhalation, and we would recommend any of our readers who may be suffering from diseases of the lungs to call upon the Doctor while here, and save themselves the fatigues of a journey to Toronto.

Navigation is open between Kingston and Cape Vincent.

It is said that the Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario has invited Dickens to visit Toronto.

Missport receives about a thousand emigrants a week.

The third annual exhibition of the Ontario Poultry Society will be held in Toronto on the 16th and 17th of April.

Notice is given that the water will be drawn off from the Lachine Canal on the 1st of April, and the Canal will be open for traffic on or about the 1st of May.

During January 14th ships carrying the British flag were lost. In connection with these losses the number of lives lost is greatly in excess of those of former disastrous years.

A son of Mr. Sheldon Hawley, about six years of age, died at Niagara of hydrophobia, having been bitten some four weeks back. The dog was not known to be mad, but was killed at the time of the occurrence by Mr. Hawley.

CHARLOTTE, Pa., March 31.—By the breaking

published in this Province in March last: it was discussed in the press, on the platform and on the hustings until the general election, which was held on the night of the 1st of September. At that time the people of Nova Scotia voted for the first time an opportunity to express their opinion on this scheme of union, and it was never before witnessed in the decision of a public question in any free country. In the counties of Cape Breton, Guysborough, Shelburne and Victoria, the anti-confederation candidates for the Commons were elected by acclamation. In every other county but one the confederates were beaten by large majorities. In the single county through a confederate struggled in by a small majority, followed by a protest for bribery and corruption. The opposition was so strong that one of the gentlemen who signed the petition obtained a seat, but one of the delegates who prepared this Dominion Act was re-elected; but two of the thirty-two members of the Commons who voted in approval of it have been chosen, and of fifty-seven members returned to both Houses all but four are humble petitioners to your honorable House for the repeal of the law. New petitions, signed in the published papers, submitted to Parliament. The Lieut.-Governor in transmitting an address against confederation informed the right honorable and the Secretary of State for the Colonies that he believed the attempt to agitate the province to be a complete failure, and the delegates who for many months last year were in communication with the East of Canada, made statements that have now been proved to have been entirely untrue. Acting upon these statements Her Majesty's government and both Houses of Parliament were misled, and have inadvertently done a cruel wrong to a high-spirited people, which will be a reflection on the justice and magnanimity of both Houses to believe will not be promptly repaired. Neither Prince Edward Island nor New Brunswick was touched by this act of union, and Nova Scotia was only included because it was assumed those who professed to speak for her, truly represented her interests and opinions. Now that the contrary has been proved the people of Nova Scotia rely with confidence on the wisdom and justice of your honorable House. Though this question has so deeply stirred their feelings the elections from the end of the Province have been carried without a blow being struck, a disloyal sentiment uttered, or any necessity, as in Canada, for military interference at the polls. The people relying on the high sense of honor which distinguishes British statesmen, and on the prudence of parliament, defeated in a peaceful and orderly manner those who had betrayed them. The undersigned, elected to represent the people both in the House of Commons and in the local legislature, will as dwell upon the consequences of an adverse decision which they do not anticipate, but ask in their behalf with all respect for the repeal of so much of the act for the Union of Canada, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island as related to Nova Scotia; and as in duty bound they will ever pray.

The petition is signed by fifty-two members of the Commons and the Local Legislature.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

MONDAY, March 30, 1888.

THE JUDICIARY IN QUEBEC.

Mr. Doria moved for correspondence with respect to the sittings of the courts in the district of Gaspé; also for correspondence with the Judges of Court of Queen's Bench and of the Superior Courts of the Province of Quebec during the last three years, respecting the demand for leaves of absence, and respecting representations made on account of the failure of the administration of justice arising from the absence or illness of certain judges, or from any other cause.

Mr. Masson (Souterrain) complained of the character of the judiciary in the Province of Quebec. The judges were incapable and a great deal of justice was consequently done in the administration of justice. Two of them had almost lost their heads; one was not of good moral character, and a third was so deaf that in an action for $10 he actually gave judgment for $100. (Laughter.) If the correspondence had been taken between the Montreal bar and the government in regard to the judges of that district were brought down, it would establish the House.

Mr. Masson (Terrebonne) said great injury was done by the state into which the bench of the province of Quebec had fallen.

Mr. Blake thought it would be better to expend a little more money if thereby an efficient judiciary could be obtained.

Mr. Dunkin said the trouble was that men had grown old on the bench who refused to retire because the allowance on retirement was less than their salary. He said it was false economy to keep incapable men on the bench. They should be given a good pension on retiring and new appointments made.

Mr. Chamberlain said that all that had been said of the Quebec judiciary that was disgraceful was unfortunately too true. It would be much better to pay a few eminent men well, and others at a lower rate to assist them, allowing those to retire who were incapable.

Mr. Abbott deprecated the attempt that had been made to depreciate the character and standing of the judiciary. As the judges of the Montreal district were concerned they were quite as well qualified as any other judges in the country, but the evil was there was not enough of them. He advocated the appointment of two more as the simplest mode of remedying the evil complained of.

Mr. Irvine said no doubt there was great cause of complaint, and the mode of remedying the evil was to provide a sufficient retiring allowance for those judges who remained on the bench and who from age were incapable satisfactorily to discharge their duties.

Mr. Doria made a very severe attack upon the judiciary of Quebec, stating that of twenty-three judges in the province there were sixteen who were incapable of performing their duties. Six of these were incapacitated from old age and infirmity, two from total blindness, and one was so deaf that he could not hear what was said to him in the district in which he resided. The press on all sides of politics denounced this state of things as one which required a prompt remedy. He charged the responsibility of the state of the bench upon the Minister of Militia, who had the appointment of most of these judges. He went on to refer to the appointment of the Queen's Bench by the same Minister, charging them as disgraced. Two who had been appointed had never practised law; two had been hangers-on at the doors of court, and another had presented such a fraudulent account to the government that they had refused to pay for, and another was a swindler and a forger, who had fled from this country to escape the penitentiary. (Sensation.) These men had been appointed Queen's Counsel for their election services, and if the Minister of Militia had remained Attorney-General they would probably be made judges of the Superior Court and of Queen's Bench by name to each of the judges of the Superior Court and the Queen's Bench, he (Mr. Doria) appealed to the Minister of Justice to guard against such improper appointments in future.

After recess.

Mr. Cartier spoke at great length in defence of the character of the judges of Quebec, and said the charges of the members of the House (Mr. Doria) were ungenerally and scandalous, and should have never been made except upon the clearest proof, which he (Mr. Cartier) was satisfied could not be offered. He alluded scathingly by name to each of the judges of the Superior Court and the Queen's Bench, and defended those of whom he had appointed as able, painstaking, and upright judges. He spoke of the system of judicial administration which he had established in Lower Canada in 1877 as a great boon to the country, decentralizing the courts and cheapening legal proceedings. As to those whom he had appointed Queen's Counsel, he contended they were ornaments of the bar.

The debate continued several hours; a number of members, chiefly from the Province of Quebec, expressed their opinions as to the constitution, legal tribunals and administration of justice in that Province. Nearly all the speakers complained of delays and excessive costs in all legal processes, causing dissatisfaction among the members of the bar and people, demanding a speedy remedy by the legislature.

Mr. Huntington moved to amend the motion so as to include a return showing the number of days the court of revision and circuits had not sat owing to the absence of judges.

Sir John A. Macdonald wound up the debate and said, it had been remarked that he would be held responsible for future appointments to the bench, and as long as he held office he did, and he would of course accept that responsibility. He regarded his position as similar to that of the Lord Chancellor of England, but that dignity being the second, but the supporter of the judiciary. He, however, must admit there was a contrast between the judges of Ontario and those of Quebec. In the former Province they retired when they became incapable, but in the latter there were veterans who lagged superfluous on the stage, although no longer capable of performing their high duties. He hoped this discussion would do some good by leading them to consult their own self-respect and dignity, and not force Parliament to summon them before it, to try their incapacity.

The motion, as amended, was carried.

INQUEST.—On Tuesday, the 31st March, an inquest was held before Dr. D. E. Burgett, Coroner, on the body of John Carr, of Rawdon, who was found dead in the porch of his house the night previous. Verdict—"Died by the visitation of God."

$800 REWARD.—We observe by the Ontario Gazette that the Government of this Province has offered a reward of $800 for the apprehension and conviction of the three persons supposed to have been implicated in the murder of Sykes on the Grand Trunk Railway, or a reward of $200 for the apprehension and conviction of any one of them. It is to be hoped this reward will lead to the arrest of the perpetrators of the most brutal murder which has ever occurred in Canada.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.—The March number of Blackwood contains the following articles:—"The Church in the Army and Navy;" "Linda Trevel—Part VI.;" "The Temporal Power of the Pope;" "The National Character of the Old English University;" Letters from a Staff Officer with the Abyssinian Expedition; and Opposition Tactics. Republished by the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, New York, and for sale by all booksellers. For terms of Blackwood and the Reviews, see advertisement.

PUNCH, OR THE NORTHERN LIGHT.—Another attempt has been made to publish a paper after the style of Punch in Canada, and judging from the first number, we apprehend it will not be any longer lived than those which have preceded it. The only thing really creditable about it is the cartoon, representing Sir John A. riding the Confederation hobby-horse, with Joseph Howe standing beside him. One of the lines is labelled "Here, Sir John, how's the horse?" "What if he should go, Sir?" Sir John replies, "I'll ride him without it." The humor in this number is rather tame, and it does not contain more brilliancy in the future, we predict for it a short career. It is published at Langford's, Montreal, at $1.50 a year. For sale at Grenville.

of the chain connected with the hoisting machinery at the Diamond Coal Mines in this city this morning, a platform containing seventeen men was precipitated to the bottom of the shaft, a distance of 185 feet. Eleven men were instantly killed, one has since died, and two more cannot live. They leave eleven widows and twenty-eight orphans.

April.

April has searched the winter land,
And found her petted dowers again;
She kissed them with her sun and rain,
And bled them to unfold their leaves,
And bled the grass with green content,
And made the weeds and clover lean.

Her fairies climb the naked trees,
And set green caps on every stalk;
Her primrose peep bravely
From borders of the garden-walk;
And in the reddened maple-tops
Her blackbird comes out and talk.

She greets the patient evergreen,
She gets a store of patients gold,
Olive tasselled presents to the breeze,
And teaches rivers songs of old.
Then shakes the trees with stormy March winds,
And laughs to hear the cuckoo scold.

Sometimes, to fret the sober sun,
She pulls the clouds across his face;
But folds a snow-drift in the woods,
Grows meek again, and prays his grace,
Waits till the last white wreath is gone,
And drops a daisy in the place.

On crocuses and violets
Gives all the words of her "Good Year"
Tells how the green grass grew,
And how the purple pansy grew,
And how the daisy grew,
On hill and field, her summer cheer.

She rocks the sunny meadow down,
The sunset's heart aches as she dyes;
She fills the dusk of deepest woods
With vague, sweet music and a sigh,
And wakes the phoenixes up,
To watch her with their wide, blue eyes.

At last she does her work in June,
And finds a willow rocking-chair,
Jokes spectacles of apple-blossom,
And a cap of diamonds on the sun,
And, a very grandmother,
Shaking her sunshade beneath, thus:

And when she sees the deeper west
That usher in the happy May,
She sighs to think her lot is cast,
And weeps because she cannot stay,
And leaves her tears upon the grass,
And turns her face, and glides away.

A Paris Story.
M. De Peno narrates in the Independence
Belge the following extraordinary story:
I knew a young gentleman named, I will say Charles, who has been the hero of a singular romance. On coming of age he entered on a Parisian life with 35,000 francs a year.
Forty years ago the young man in Paris de Roc's romance played dramatically on six thousand francs, rolled in cash, and kept dances. Times are changed since then,
and Charles could not keep a carriage, nor a stylish dinner, and no one ever spoke of his lost money, or of the club. But he continued to ruin himself though. He went into the world, he went to the club, and kept a mistress, but did all this within his means.
The weakness was a list of lending to any friend who asked. He was never repaid, and when he found his fortune more than half gone, instead of economizing, his brief speculating in stocks, as which he lost continually.
Nearly ruined, he had, however, nothing of the air of an unlucky fellow. He went to the first ball of the carnival. There a lady in a black dress, rolled in cash, showed marked preference for his society. Through her mask it was evident that her eyes and teeth were magnificent, and her figure was well and statuesque. Charles was a little hand nearly gloved away in graceful gesture.
For two hours the pair passed the time delightfully.
Let us go to supper, said Charles.
The lady unmasked, and displayed a face which stops growing old in Italy, though his possessor may be forty. His face was perfectly attractive, and the young man thought he had never seen a more enchanting woman.
Suddenly she astonished him by saying:
This was startling, my incredible. The lady continued:
"I am a widow, and for reasons which I will explain, I have had occasion to make theatrical enquiries as to your life. I find that you have been ruined, not by vice, but by generosity, and that you have rare talents, and are in every respect, save your recklessness, a man to be loved and esteemed. My husband left me two millions of francs, and I have a charming daughter. There are family reasons, unknown to you, which give you a right to our intimacy and a share in our life."
These reasons were very singular. The lady's father had been a steward to a grandfather of Charles's, and, not a little sorrowed, since he had, by abusing his trust, made a fortune and ran away to Poland—and here he increased his illegitimate capital, and married into a rich and noble family. Here he died leaving the two millions the widow and children.
The widow, who knew his history, employed a secret agent to ascertain if Charles was a deserving young man, and found that he was something more. The young man married her daughter, and now all goes well.

DAVIDSON'S CANDLES.—How came that fancy greasy mass in the great hall, a fatty quantity to her maid of all work. "Why," replied the girl, the candles fell into some water, and I put them into the oven to dry."
A clergyman once praised his wife's with—"My friends, let us say a few words about the gentleman who took a short nap before he went to sleep.
A clergyman, counselling a young widow on the death of her husband, remarked that the couple were, and his reply, "I don't know about that," remarked the sobbing fair one, "but I'll try."

READ AGAIN THE EVIDENCE OF ONE OF OUR OLDEST RESIDENTS.

CINCINNATI, December 24, 1863.
Gentlemen:—This is to certify that I have found Alfred Long Balam one of the best remedies in the world for Rheumatism. I have used it in my family for breaking up a troublesome cough with the happiest effect. I recommended it to a young lady who had a nervous cough and was threatened with Consumption, and secured her in a few days. I would recommend it to all afflicted with a cough, and to those who are threatened with Consumption.
Respectfully yours,

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF AND REGULATIVE PILLS.
Among the best remedial agents in the world. The Ready Relief is instantaneous, its chief object is to relieve the sufferer from the most distressing symptoms in the cure. It is used with Gold, Rheumatism, Stomach, Throat, Diarrhea, Indigestion, or suffering from Rheumatism, Venereal, Gonorrhea, Leucorrhoea, Pain in the Bladder, inflammation of the Bowels, Bilious Colic, the Relief will afford ease and comfort in a few minutes, and effect a cure in a few hours.
See Dr. Radway's Almanac for 1864.—R. R. R. Sold by Druggists.

At New York, April 24th, 1864.
Gentlemen:—In answer to your esteemed favor, let me tell you that I have no more to say about the medicine sold to Radway & Co. as preparations as the undersigned. It is a truly powerful medicine, and has cured my head without causing great pain—since in the spring, my internal organs paralyzed, my bowels so constricted that I only went to stool once in three days, and was almost deprived of sight; besides all this, I was very thin, my ears and head ached, and all the time taking the medicine, which was thought would do me good, but did not.

The following is the manner in which I was treated: Five Pills every night, with water, and the relief was given me as mentioned in the pamphlet. The treatment lasted five months, but at the end of four days I could walk without crutches, and today, although not very strong in my legs, I walk perfectly, have good sight, feel myself much stronger, and am enabled to do my business as when I was young.
I thank God for the relief which was made by Dr. Radway & Co., and also thank Mr. V. L. for his kind notice.
Believe me, gentlemen, yours very obedient,
JOSE FRANCISCO PEREZ, M.D.

Nova Scotia Gold Mines.

The Scottish American Journal speaks as follows of the Gold Mines of this Province.

"We suspect that few of our readers outside of Nova Scotia have anything like a correct conception of the extent to which gold-mining is prosecuted in that province, or of the rich rewards which many of those engaged in it have secured. The Mining Gazette, a journal conducted in Halifax with a good deal of spirit, brings reports of the success which attends several of the enterprises, and the energy with which new ones are being inaugurated. Much attention is paid to new processes and contrivances for extracting gold from quartz, and the whole business seems to be conducted with skill and judgment, and with a rare and eminently creditable superiority to the arts by which speculators and managers too often prey upon the credulity and pockets of stockholders. The Province has been indebted mainly to American pluck and capital for the development of its mineral resources; and a lesson of thrift and discipline is taught by which other localities might profit."

"Private information which some time ago reached us from a distinguished scientific source, warranted the opinion that in respect of richness, the relative production of working, the Nova Scotia gold districts are superior to any other quartz mining country in the world." The absence of alluvial diggings has prevented stories of sudden wealth, akin to those which have caused so much excitement in the early days of California and Australia. Nova Scotia does not boast of rich placers yielding fortunes at the cost of a little digging and washing. The gold is hidden deep in the rock, reached only after patient toil, and requiring powerful machinery and scientific processes to effect the separation.

Hence the work has been slow and comparatively quiet. But that it has been profitable we think can not be doubted, after a study of the facts reported by our Halifax contemporary. The Sherbrooke district alone last year yielded 9,493 ounces of gold; the average per man employed being $1,414, gold. The production has, ever, rapidly increased. The results from the last month in the district, named, were a gross gold product of 946 ounces. In the Unalaska district a single mine yielded 484 ounces gold as the product of thirteen tons of quartz and three weeks' labor. We might continue the enumeration of cases, but we have cited quite enough to show the extraordinary richness of quartz and the reality of Nova Scotia mining.

THIS COMPANY is duly incorporated under Cap. 23, Consolidated Statutes of Canada, for the purpose of working the mineral veins upon sixteen acres of Lot No. 19, in the fifth concession of Madoc, (the Richardson Mine being No. 18 in the same concession). A shaft has been sunk to the depth of nine feet in the rock. At six feet a gold-bearing lode was struck, of 18 inches in width, which at nine feet has increased to 24 feet, and at ten feet to 36 feet, and the lode is clearly defined, and evidently extends the whole length of the property—82 rods.

The territory is admirably situated for mining purposes, being a high ridge covered with indications of mineral veins. There are numerous places on the land fully as promising as the one on which the shaft has been sunk, and would unquestionably yield as well. The large quantity of land, and the prospects of other gold-bearing veins make it certain that the Company will be able to subdivide the property as soon as a little further development has been made, and form other Companies at great advantage. Work is being vigorously prosecuted in the shaft, and the superintendence of JOHN G. SHURTZ, Esq., one of the Directors, who is largely interested in the proprietary of the mine and who has had thirteen years' practical experience in the gold mines of California and Nevada, and is unquestionably the most accomplished quartz miner now in this country. It is intended to have further crusting in a shaft, and as regulations are in progress which, if carried out, will secure a mill to the Company at once, so that regular work will be gone on, without delay, and dividends may, in that case, be expected in a short time.

At the same time, they find themselves every year more able to do without State assistance. The really extraordinary success which they have met with in raising the weekly offertory makes them comparatively indif-ludent to the miserable endowment which they receive by virtue of their connection with the State Church. It is certainly not from pecuniary reasons that they have not secured already. Should the ultimate decision in the two Ritual suits be given against the defendants. I think it will be hardly possible to prevent the rupture, which seems to be drawing nigher.—It would but require a bishop or two to set the example, for if it be followed by a large and influential party both of clerics and laymen."

The principles on which this Company is founded contain all the elements required to develop the benefits of Life Insurance, and afford every facility to intending assured—
One of the advantages secured by those who insure their lives with this Company is that the outside expenditure for Management is absolutely restricted by the Board of Directors to Ten per cent. of the Net Life
Income. This most important restriction shows that the interests of participating policy holders are closely watched and carefully attended to by the Company. Attention is especially called to this point, as the proportion of premiums expended for Management
Must Largely Influence Profits
and Bonuses.

The next division of profits takes place in 1898, and all those who wish to participate in the profits should insure at once.

Fact, Faw, and Faucy.

It is a certain sign of an ill heart to be inclined to defamation.

Business travels so slow that poverty comes over like a thief.

Every man magnifies injuries he has received, and justifies those he has inflicted.

He who says there is no such thing as a free lunch, may be sure to find himself a hungry man.

When a man is said to be dressed in borrowed plumes, it is when his talent and abilities are so.

The repentance that is delayed until old age, is often a regret for the inability to commit more sins.

Manhood has been learning for six thousand years, and yet how few have learned that their fellow-creatures are as good as themselves.

Keep doing—always doing. Wishing, dreaming, intending, murmuring, talking, signing and rapping are idle and profitless employments.

It is not until the flower has fallen off that the fruit begins to ripen. So in life it is when the romance is past that the practical usefulness begins.

If you require a person to assist you, don't ask the man who promised he would do anything for you when he knew that you did not want anything done.

There is one advantage in being a blockhead—your head is never in the way of your spirits or appetites.

The moment a man can worry, he ceases to be a fool.

We stand by the seashore and watch the tides come in; we retreat, thinking we shall soon be overwhelmed; soon, however, they flow back. So will the waves of trouble in the world; they threaten us, but a firm resistance makes them break at our feet.

Gems—little deeds, like little seeds, grow to flowers or weeds. Use a book as you use a seed. Never open a door to a little vice, lest a great one should enter. Never cut a corner in hope.

Economy is the household mint. The mill cannot grind with the water that is past. Man doubles his evils by blabbing over his sins.

An exchange truly says that you may insert a thousand excellent things in a newspaper, and never hear a word of approbation from its readers; but just let a line or two not suited to their taste slip in (through by accident), and you will be sure to hear of it.

One of the greatest difficulties in conducting a newspaper is to keep it free from objectionable matter.

THIS COMPANY is duly incorporated under Cap. 28, Consolidated Statutes of Canada, for the purpose of working the mineral veins upon sixteen acres of Lot No. 19, in the fifth concession of Madoc, the Richardson Mining No. 18 in the same concession.

A shaft has been sunk to the depth of nine feet in the rock. At six feet a gold-bearing lode was struck of 18 inches in width, which at nine feet has increased to 24 feet, and a crushing at Gilbert & Turley's mill of four and one-half tons of the rock, gave a yield of over five hundred dollars in gold; the lode is clearly defined, and evidently extends the whole length of the property—32 rods.

The territory is admirably situated for mining purposes, being a high ridge covered with indications of mineral veins. There are numerous places on the land fully as promising as the one on which the shaft has been sunk, and which would unquestionably yield as well. The large quantity of rock, of other gold-bearing veins, make it certain that the Company will be able to subdivide the property as soon as a little further development has been made, and form other Companies at great advantage.

Work is being vigorously prosecuted in the shaft, under the superintendence of JOHN G. SHURTZ, Esq., one of the Directors, who is largely interested in the proprietary of the mine, and who has had thirteen years' practical experience in the gold mines of California and Nevada, and is unquestionably the most accomplished quartz miner now in this country. It is intended to have further crushing in a few days, and negotiations are in progress which, if carried out, will secure a mill to the Company at once, so that regular work will be gone on with without delay, and dividends may, in that case, be expected in a short time.

ABYSSINIA.

WRITTEN IN 1742 BY M. L'ABBE DELAPORTE.

Translated from the French by a Lady.

No. 1.

Abyssinia is the name given to that vast portion of Africa known to the ancients as Ethiopia. It derives its present name from the Abyssinians, an Arab tribe supposed to be descended from a colony of Sabines. The precise date of their transmigration is unknown, but it is believed to be very ancient: the origin of the first Ethiopians has been traced back as far as Cush, the son of Ham, and grandson of Noah. Arvad, who was one of their Kings, they worshipped in the form of a serpent. Nothing is known concerning his successors, until the time of Makeda, a Princess who reigned in Ethiopia when Solomon held the throne of Jerusalem. The Abyssinians affirm that she was the famous Queen of Sheba, who journeyed to Judea that she might witness the wisdom of Solomon, and returned from thence the mother of a son, who was called like his grandfather David. His youth was spent in Jerusalem, where his father caused him to be educated, and he returned to his own country with a numerous retinue of Jews, whom the most noble families of Abyssinia regard as their ancestors. The sovereigns of this empire claim direct descent from this same David, son of Solomon, to whom his mother resigned the throne as soon as he was of age to reign. Those who adopt this tradition base their belief on the origin of several Jewish customs and are retained in doing so, to this day; for instance, from time immemorial the Abyssinians have given to the sons of their princes the name of Israelites; the emperors have for their coat-of-arms a lion with the motto, "Fidelis deus solus rex." The lion of the tribe of Judah was conquered. On the whole there is thought to be a great similarity between the governments of these two nations.

The Ethiopian annals have preserved for us neither the names of the monarchs who succeeded the son of Solomon, nor any events of their reign, until the fourth century of our era, which is said to have been the time of the establishment of the Christian religion in this country. It was first preached by St. Frumentius, whose history is thus related in the calendar of the church. A Tyrian philosopher, named Meropie, travelling for the purpose of learning the customs of the different nations, came to Ethiopia with two of his disciples, Edese and Frumentius. He, dying suddenly, the two strangers were presented to the king, who provided them with honorable employment. They acquired themselves so perfectly, that, on the death of the reigning monarch, Frumentius was appointed regent during the minority of his successor. Frumentius took advantage of his position to favor the Christian merchants, whose business brought them to Ethiopia. He granted them various privileges, and gave them a place where they might worship in public. In this manner he accustomed the Abyssinians to witness the ceremonies of our religion, and it created in them a desire to be initiated into its mysteries. There was now needed only a missionary to commence the conversion of this people. The king, having by this time reached his majority, Frumentius obtained of him permission to visit his own country, and, having given to St. Athanasius an account of the disposition of the Abyssinians, he was authorized to send him a bishop. The zeal of Athanasius was kindled by this story, and persuaded that he could not choose a more worthy minister than Frumentius, for so important an office, answered him in the words of Athanasius to Joseph, "Can we find such one as this is, a man in whom the spirit of God is, and who can accomplish so great things?" Then, having ordained him bishop, he commanded him, with the blessing of God, to return to the place from whence he came.

The Christian religion was finally introduced, it is said, during the reign of two princes, who, being brothers, ruled together. An Abyssinian poet has written the following in their praise:—"Hail to the princes, Abraham and Atyphian, who occupied the same throne, and who lived together in perfect love. Their month announced the gospel of Jesus Christ to the old men who followed the precepts of the Mosaic law, and who, by their hands, they multiplied the honor of our Lord." If the Ethiopians are to be believed, Frumentius performed miracles, like the apostles, and converted an infinite number of barbarians. The Latin, Greek and Abyssinian churches honor his memory, celebrate his feast-day, and invoke him as a saint.

The dynasty, founded in Ethiopia by the son of Solomon, reigned until the year 960. The family of Zago succeeded, and gave several kings to Abyssinia in the course of three hundred and fifty years. This change was the consequence of the reign of a shameless Queen, who caused all the princes of the royal blood to be put to death, that she might give all the throne to her illegitimate son. Only one child escaped her fury, who found an asylum in a neighboring kingdom, where his descendants lived for more than three centuries. After the extinction of the second dynasty, the former race was recalled to the throne by the nobles of the kingdom. One of these princes married the Roman Catholic religion, and strove to establish it throughout the whole empire, but this innovation caused such serious troubles that he was obliged to consent to the expulsion of the priests, and to the re-establishment of the former religion.

Telegraphic News.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

LONDON, April 14.—Viscount Cranborne, Marquis of Salisbury, Secretary of State, under Lord Derby, is dead. His eldest surviving son is the Right Hon. Viscount Cranborne, who succeeds to the title and status of the late Marquis.

The London journals this morning publish elaborate obituary notices of the deceased peer, and they all express regret at the loss which the House of Commons will sustain in the transfer of Lord Cranborne to the House of Peers in consequence of his father's death.

After a parting interview with the Queen, this morning the Prince and Princess of Wales, accompanied by their respective suites, left London on their visit to Ireland. They took a special train for Holyhead where they will embark on the fleet which is to convey them across the Irish sea. It is expected that they will land in Dublin at noon to-morrow.

DUBLIN, April 14.—The great preparations which have been made to give possible eclat to the visit of the Prince and Princess are about completed. The castle has been taken into a royal palace for its accommodation, and St. Patrick's cathedral has been most lavishly decorated for the coming ceremonies attending the initiation of His Royal Highness as a knight of St. Patrick. The quays and public buildings are lavishly ornamented, and the flags, streamers, mottoes and other decorations, and beautiful triumphal arches have been erected in the principal streets, through which the royal visitor is to pass. The people of the surrounding country are pouring into the city, and crowds of visitors are hourly arriving from England to witness the ceremonies, and participate in the festivities of the reception.

LONDON, April 14, (evening).—The winners of the second day of New Market, Gravesend race meeting were Mr. Morris, Padesley, who won the sweepstakes of 700 sovereigns each. Earl Gower, owned by Sir J. Hamley, who came in neck and neck, and divided the Bressal stakes, and Montagu owned by "Gentle De Laage," and Mr. H. Saville, Binkley, who also came in even and divided the Suffolk and Hamstead stakes.

PARIS, April 14th.—The Journal des Debats, in an editorial to-day, scents the apprehensions which have been raised of an approaching war, and particularly declares that there is any reason to apprehend trouble with Germany, and that this the Journal says France has already refused to make a close alliance with England and Austria unless Prussia is included.

COPENHAGEN, April 14th.—It is understood that the Emperor of Russia has declined to interpose his good offices as a mediator between Denmark and Prussia, for the settlement of the controversy concerning the Schleswig provinces.

LEONOR, April 14th.—The South American steamer, with Rio Janeiro dates to the 14th, has arrived. She has brought a close alliance with Prussia. This leads to the impression that the recent movements of the allies on Rio Parana have not resulted favorably, as the Brazilians expected.

LONDON, evening.—Political news unimportant.

ALBANY, April 15.—In the Assembly last evening, a bill was introduced for the construction of a suspension bridge over the Hudson River, at the Highlands.

NEW YORK, April 15.—The Herald's Washington special cable starting yesterday morning, gave the alleged plots of the radicals, by which our Republican form of Government is to be superseded by a dictatorship, the Supreme Court virtually abolished, and Grant, the Senate and the National Banks are to rule the nation. These revolutionary measures are to be accomplished thus:—1st. Removal of Johnson and installation of Wade three or four months before the commencement of the next Presidential term. 2d. The election of Grant as President and Wade as Vice-President. By the aid of martial law it is to be accomplished, by abolishing the Supreme Court by depriving it of power, and by the aid of the Senate to reconstruct acts of business of the Government. 3d. Extending the term of office of the President and Vice-President to four years, from March 1st, 1891. 4th. Issuance of currency through the National Banks, and keep the people in good humor by the large quantity of paper issued, making them satisfied with an apparent prosperity. This, says the special, is the end and aim of the radical conspiracy.

NEW YORK, April 15.—The exiled directors of the Erie Railroad, who have been confined in barracks for some weeks, are no longer to be intimidated by acres, and they walk freely over the Erie City streets. Yesterday, Messrs. Drew and Eldridge proceeded to the Ferry Office, at the Long Dock, to attend a meeting of the Long Dock Company was held. John B. Eldridge was elected President; Daniel Drew, Vice-President; and N. S. Drew, Treasurer; John B. Eldridge, Secretary.

NEW YORK, April 15.—A terrible accident occurred on the Erie Railroad about one o'clock last night for more than half a mile. A portion of the train, including one sleeping car, was thrown from the track by a runaway switch, and was a total wreck. It consisted of twenty-five cars. Three passenger coaches and one sleeping car were buried. The accident caused the loss of twenty, and the wounded severely.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 15.—The steamer Sacramento sailed to-day (April 14th) for San Francisco, with 1700 tons of treasure of which $700,000 were for New York.

The Impeachment Trial.

The impeachment trial is still going on at Washington, and appears to be the all-absorbing topic of discussion. The prosecution closed its case a few days ago, and the defence has been three days on the stand. It is the opinion of many of the leading Republican papers, that the managers have not made out a good case as they anticipated. At least they have failed to make the points they expected from the introduction of foreign matter such as "swinging round the circle," "maudlin speeches," and so forth, and in the opinion of some of the Republican papers, the prosecution has weakened its position in the bungling manner in which it has been managed. Judge Curtis made an excellent beginning to the defence, which is described by the Tribune as a masterly effort. He entered into a long and exhaustive argument on the meaning and intent of the Tenure-of-Office act, did not come under its provisions. He denied the position which had been assumed by the managers, that Stanton is serving out Mr. Lincoln's term of office. He then went on to show the relations which should exist between the President and the members of his Cabinet, who are his constitutional advisers, his personal staff, etc. They were never regarded, he said, as incumbents of Federal offices in the same sense as other persons. He gave a history of the passage of the Tenure-of-Office law through the two Houses of Congress, and quoted from the debates to show that its leading advocates disavowed any intention to make it applicable to Secretary Stanton's case. He sided with senator Sherman, in a speech favoring the bill, said that the Senate would not sustain any Cabinet officer in retaining his place after the simplest intimation from the President that his resignation was desired. But even if the act were applicable to Secretary Stanton's case, he held that the mere act of removal did not constitute a high crime or misdemeanor, unless it was wilfully and maliciously done. The accusation was that the President knew Secretary Stanton's case to come within the scope of the law, but there was no proof of it. On the contrary, the proof was all the other way. As a legal argument the effort has received high praise, but the effect of it is well expressed by a Washington correspondent, who says that though Mr. Curtis' argument "enchained the attention of those on the floor, and those in the galleries," he did not believe it had the slightest effect on a single Senator. Each one sitting in judgment has already made up his mind how he will vote, viewing impeachment as not a political necessity. The deposition of Andrew Johnston and the installation of B. F. Wade is but a question of time, not is the time very far distant."

The Assassination.

The editor of the British Whig has had a talk with Mr. O'Reilly, the gentleman who is conducting the case against Whelan, and he says:—"We cannot make public all that Mr. O'Reilly has told us, but we have reason to know that a gigantic conspiracy has been found out, in which persons, some of them members of the Hibernian Society of Toronto, are implicated." There is every probability that full discoveries will be made and the conspiracy stamped out.

Detective O'Neill went to Montreal on Saturday last, and is said to have made several arrests there of parties believed to have had some connection with McGee's murder. O'Neill is expected to return in the morning.

There is nothing new from Ottawa respecting Whelan, further than the report that the evidence against him is becoming more conclusive. He has employed as his counsel J. P. Buckley, Esq., L. L. D.

Incidents about the Funeral of Mr. McGee.

The streets were lined by soldiers who afterwards marched in procession. The regulars were the 18th, 100th, 60th, 78th Highlanders, Royal Artillery, Victoria, Bochelegue, Prince of Wales, Royals, Garrison Artillery, Field Battery, Chasseurs, Cavalry, Guides, and the 18th Hussars. These presented arms as the body passed, the bands playing funeral airs.

The procession marched to the St. Patrick's Church, where a sermon was preached by the Rev. Mr. O'Farrell, of Ottawa. He warmly eulogized Mr. McGee, defending him from the charge of a political recreant. At the conclusion of a period where he eloquently denounced Fenians, he was greeted by loud cheers, which the reverend gentleman expressed, saying "This is the House of God." Thence the body proceeded to the Parish Church, where a service was chanted, the Archbishop of Montreal officiating. The church was hung in black and crowded to its utmost capacity. Thence the body was borne through the city out to Cote des Neiges Cemetery, where it was deposited in the vault.

Crowds assembled at every point, and in the Cemetery altogether over a hundred thousand witnessed the spectacle, which was the grandest ever seen in Canada.

At Ottawa the day was observed as a holiday, and from that Town and Prescott, hundreds went to the funeral. All over Canada there were manifestations of respect. Business in many places was generally suspended. At St. John's, (N. B.) a despatch says: "All leading places of business are closed, and the flags are half mast high on public buildings, private residences and stores. Intense sorrow is expressed for the death of Mr. McGee."

As the procession passed through the streets, thousands of persons on the sidewalks wept aloud. Such a scene of agonizing sorrow was never before witnessed on this continent.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

The House of Commons resumed yesterday evening.

The Senate met and adjourned out of respect to the memory of Senator Benjamin Wier, of Nova Scotia, who died suddenly yesterday morning, at the Russell House, of congestion of the lungs.

In the House of Commons a telegram from the Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of Prince Edward Island was read, submitting the following resolution passed by that body:

On motion of the Colonial Secretary, seconded by the Hon. Mr. Haviland, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

"The assassination of the Hon. T. D. McGee, of the Dominion of Canada, having been reported by telegraph, therefore, resolved, That this House regard with horror and detestation the atrocious and blood-thirsty act, deeply sympathizing with the bereaved widow and orphans, and sincerely regret that the Dominion Government should have lost such an able and patriotic statesman."

"Resolved, That the Speaker do communicate the resolutions of this House to the Speaker of the Dominion House of Commons, and also to Mrs. McGee." (Signed, G. WIGMORE, Speaker.) A despatch was read from the Governor General recommending Parliament to provide for the family of the late Hon. Mr. McGee. A special committee was appointed on the subject. The House then took into committee of supply and passed several items of the estimates, one of which was $30,000 per annum for the Lieutenant-Governors of Ontario and Quebec respectively. The financial statement will be brought down in a few days.

Board of Trade.

A regular meeting of the Board was held at the office of the Secretary, J. P. Thomas, Esq., on Tuesday evening, the 14th instant, the President, Thomas Kelso, Esq., in the chair.

The minutes of the last meetings were read and approved.

A communication from the Secretary pro tem of the convention of the Board of Trade, to be held at Ottawa, on the 16th instant, requesting this board to appoint delegates thereto, was read by the Secretary.

An application for the appointment of an Official Assignee was read, after which the following officers were duly elected to serve for the year 1888, as provided in the constitution:

THOS. KELSO, Esq., President, re-elected.
GEORGE VAIR, Esq., 1st Vice President.
J. A. ROBERTSON, Esq., 2nd Vice President.
W. STEVENSON, Esq., Treasurer.
J. PARKER THOMAS, Esq., Secretary.
A. D. MONROE, Esq., Corresponding Sec'y.
MESSRS. M. BOWELL, G. NELSON, and F. H. BOUR, Directors.

Moved by Mr. Robertson, seconded by Mr. Bolton, that the President and Messrs. Vair, Nelson and Sutherland be delegates to represent this Board at the convention of the Boards of Trade at Ottawa.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Nelson, seconded by Mr. Vair, that the application for the appointment of an Official Assignee be over till next regular meeting.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

To the Editor of The Intelligencer.

SIR,—I would call the attention of the proper authorities to the dangerous state of the railing and planking on the north side of the Lower Bridge. The rails and planks were removed when the wooden piers were being constructed, and though some have been replaced, they have not yet been replaced. Early attention to this may save the Town the expense attending an inquest.

Yours, &c.

Pearl Divers.

The following is from an article in the March number of Putnam's Magazine:

The boats generally assemble at a late hour of the night, and when all are together a signal gun is fired, whereupon they set sail for the banks, which are not far from the west side of the Pearl River Gulf, for the purpose is to reach there before daybreak so that the divers may be able to begin the moment the sun rises above the dark horizon of the water. In each boat there are, besides the pilot, two rowers and ten divers. The latter, perfectly clothed, and with their skin well rubbed with fragrant oil, work five or six hours, and then, having the other five to recover and to recruit in the meanwhile.

Before they jump in they compress the nostrils tightly with a small piece of hose which keeps the water out, stuff their ears with beeswax for the same purpose, fasten a network bag, which is to hold the oyster by a string to their waist, and aid the own descent by a large stone of red granite which they catch hold of with their feet. Then they go quickly down to the bottom. Here they dart about as they can, picking up with their fingers and their toes, what they use with wonderful agility, fill the bag, and shake the rope that is held above in the boat, in order to be drawn up.

In favorable weather the diver may down some fifteen times a day; if the weather is less propitious, they dive only five or six times. They remain only an average not over a minute under water; stay there a minute and a half or two minutes is possible only for a few expert divers and can only be reached by extraordinary efforts. A few who have endured four or five minutes are spoken of as we speak of men of genius that adorn a nation's annals, and the greatest of divers is a half-breed Indian who remained half an hour under water. The exertion is extremely violent, and generally when the poor man returned to the surface, blood flows from the nose, ears and eyes. Hence, divers are generally unhealthy, and without exact

They suffer heart disease and sores, a fact recognized among the main population of those regions by their bloodshot eyes, staggering limbs and bent backs. These are part of their way of life. Sometimes they die suddenly on reaching the surface, as if struck by a shot, and are often found so. The stories of some of their names being regularly plain, in order to throw their limbs to the sharks for the sake of the pearl, starting out of sockets, and the typhannum of the ear breaking under the pressure of the water, are, of course false, but the pains, perils and penalties of the poor pearl divers are, in all conscience, enough to surround the fruit of their labor, the beautiful pearl, with a melancholy interest unknown to other jewels.

"Are you fond of Hoggy's Tales?" said the blue stocking young lady to a farmer. "Oh, madame, I like hog's tails with plenty salt on them," was the countryman's reply. "But you misunderstand me," she replied. "I mean have you read Hoggy's Tales?" "No," said the bumpkin, "our hogs are white or black, and I don't think there is red one among them."

It is proposed to have ladies' trains made separate from their dresses, so that they can be removed and hung in the entry after being dragged through the dirt, while the wearer wishes to go into a clean dressing-room. Wouldn't it be better to have the trains in the entry when the ladies go out into the dirty streets, and resume them when they re-enter the "clean drawing-rooms!"

A VALUABLE OYSTER.—The Richmond Enquirer says, that a gentleman in that city recently purchased some oysters from a York river boat; attached to and imbedded in the shell of one of them he encountered a metallic substance. This oyster he carried home and there proceeded to break it to pieces with a hammer, when he found that it contained a French gold coin, known as a leu, of the value of about $14, bearing date 1804, and that it was lost on the York river.

A FIERY DRAGON.—All the ingenuity of the loyal Australians was brought into requisition on the visit of Prince Alfred. The most remarkable thing on the occasion of his arrival in the harbour of Sydney was a marine illumination, representing a huge fiery dragon. This accomplished resembling the scutes of Thalassidroma in transparency, in the appropriate form, showing eyes, scales, teeth, claws, ears, and the popularly ascribed characteristics of a dragon. The tail was formed by twenty-five ships' boats in a line, illuminated by lanterns. The length of the figure was 15 feet, without the tail. The jaws were extended about six feet, being about sixteen feet in length. The green, red and black colours of the crest were easily represented

By a judicious display of rockets and other pyrotechnics, the monster was made to stir fire from his head and tail, as he moved along, towed by a steamer at a distance. The princely representative of St. George did not venture to attack this dragon, but enjoyed his fireworks display very much.

The item of arrears of 1867 then passed. Mr. Ross explained the object of the next item, $33,000 for river police Quebec and Montreal, saying it was not intended that the whole of it should be charged against the Dominion. A portion of it would have to be defrayed by the province of Quebec.

Mr. Fraser said it was unfair to make the Dominion pay a portion even of the charges incurred for keeping up a local police.

Sir J. A. Macdonald said the principle on which the charge was made was fair, as it would be unjust to expect the ports of Quebec and Montreal to pay all the charges incurred in maintaining order among a floating population attracted by the trade of the Upper and Lower provinces. He also said that Montreal water police had been of great assistance to the government, as it was the only reliable force in the country.

A discussion ensued on the question whether the Dominion should be taxed for the support of a local force.

After recess, the House went again into committee of supply.

Mr. BRATT said that hitherto, being a novice in Parliament, he had been a listener and a hearer rather than a speaker. Therefore he misunderstood the position of the matter before the House. He would beg the forgiveness of hon. gentlemen. If he recollected aright previous to the Union this country had been agitated from one end to the other by a matter similar to this, purely local outlays having to be borne by the general administration; and hence before he voted on the present subject he wanted more information. He could not bring himself to understand how it was that the revenue of the Dominion should be devoted to a matter such as this, which was purely local. Did Sir John and Halifax, he should like to know, maintain a river police. (No, no.) Was it not then unjust and unfair to ask them to pay for such a local police elsewhere in the Dominion. He knew it would be stated by some member that this expense was one of a general character, and ought to be borne by the Dominion. Now he could not understand the justice or economy of such an act. He would ask supposing a duty were levied on vessels coming to Quebec and Montreal who would really pay that duty? He replied emphatically that it would be paid by the people. He would like to know if the people of the West did not consume at least two-thirds of these goods, why then should the item for river police be extended upon the Dominion generally. He certainly did not think this movement of the government ill-advised in view of the disaffection now prevailing in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, to possess this additional revenue. The government seemed to him that the government were only deepening the discontent, by the present movement, and he would not support them in it without further light. He hoped yet to see the day when instead of discharging the customs at Quebec or Montreal vessels would be able in consequence of the canals being deepened to pass through to the head of their great lakes if necessary. The hon. gentleman took occasion to urge upon the government strongly the development of the resources of the Dominion, and pointed to the effect which the extension of railway enterprise had upon the prosperity of the country.

Mr. JOHNSON thought the police for the protection of one locality should not be supported by the general government.

Mr. BLAKE said it would be a question between the local and general governments as to which should pay this money. There was no doubt the local government of Quebec would be held responsible for the money.

Mr. SMITH did not see how this could be a Dominion charge.

Mr. CHADWICK held that it was a matter of general interest to protect navigation, to prevent piracy &c. for which a government police was employed.

Considerable discussion ensued as to the claims on the local and general governments respectively, after which the item passed.

The item for penitentiaries also created some discussion, but together with that for legislation passed with debate.

Some discussion arose on the item for observatories in Ontario and Quebec. Some of the lower province members objected on the ground that the charge should be defrayed by the local governments. But finally passed.

Similar objections were raised by the opposition to grants in aid of the medical schools of Toronto, Kingston, and Montreal.

Mr. Ross replied that this was not a grant but a debt due to those institutions by the late province of Canada. The money had not yet been paid and it was not intended to be charged to the local governments.

Mr. HARRISON could not see that a parliament elected under the new constitution was at all bound to continue these grants. Ontario and Quebec were alone competent to deal with this question.

Mr. MACKENZIE moved to strike out the item for these institutions, holding that this was a subject for the local governments to deal with. The Dominion Government had no right to consider these grants as arrears and force the Local Legislature to pay them. If the Local Legislature decided to continue them they certainly knew their own business best.

After a long discussion Mr. Ross said he would not press them that night, and the House adjourned at one o'clock.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, APRIL 18.

THE ORANGE QUESTION.—The Hamilton Presbytery by a vote of 11 to 2, decided to allow the use of instrumental music in Churches, whenever congregations unanimously or by large majorities desired it.

DISTILLERY SEIZED.—The distillery of Mr. Peter Kestner, at Stratford, was seized last week for alleged frauds on the revenue. The concern was valued at from $3,000 to $10,000 at the time of seizure.

A PROFITABLE EXCHANGE.—Not often do loving hearts or ready pen produce more touching and beautiful obituary notices, than the following which appeared in a local paper in Connecticut: "Exchanged his poverty for eternal riches, and his rags for a crown which faded not away—at the Winchester poor-house Nov. 24th, James G. Smith, aged 73. The pall-bearers were not far from this side—not so many, perhaps, as they that waited on the 'Ephraim Shore,' and went up with the old man to his 'Father's House.'"

A BAR OF GOLD.—V. T. Bell, of this Town, exhibited this afternoon, at this office, a bar of gold, weighing 12 oz. 9 dwts. 6 grs., value $250. This is the product of fourteen tons and a half of quartz from the Mofra mine, lot 19, in the 18th concession of Madoc, and crushed this week at the works of Wallace & Co., (late Tuck & Gillett). The rough amalgam was brought to Belleville Friday morning, and given to Mr. Bell, Assayer, who smelted and refined the same. This will not be the whole yield of the 14½ tons, as all of the mercury was not returned. The average per ton is about $130.

THE STEAMER JOHN GRENFAY.—The Fish Guards says this steamer has undergone considerable internal repairs, and is now complete in every department. Meals are furnished on board at reasonable rates; but as Dunkin holds away nothing stronger than tea will be supplied. The outside appearance of the steamer has been considerably improved, which, together with a coat of paint, makes a decided improvement. The wheels have been made broader, the smoke-stack raised some four feet, so as to increase her speed and add to her steadiness, while the engine has been carefully overhauled and pronounced in perfect working order. We wish the steamer a prosperous season.

Bringing it Home.

Rev. Father O'Farrell in his address at the funeral of Mr. McGee, did not hesitate to denounce Fenianism in the strongest possible terms, and charge them with his murder. He said that "advantage had been taken by some of his countrymen of the honest outspoken indignation with which the deceased had reproached the nefarious attempts of a miserable diabolical conspiracy." "But," said Mr. O'Farrell, "if he was guilty of a crime against Ireland because he so denounced the abominable plots of men who only bring shame and disgrace upon her, then I, too, am guilty of the same crime, for I denounce to-day, as vehemently as he could do, such vile, unprincipled means; and if it could be proved that his death was the result of his enmity to those secret societies, then I call upon every honest man to stamp out with horror every vestige of them from amongst us. There must be no sympathy for such a dastardly crime."

The House Yesterday.

In the Senate a message was received from the Governor General transmitting a despatch from the Secretary of State for the Colonies, pointing out the expediency of assimilating as far as possible the laws of the different Provinces respecting treasonable offences to the provisions of the Imperial act. Another message was received from His Excellency, recommending that provision should be made for the family of the late Hon. T. D. McGee. An answer was returned to His Excellency, assuring him that the Senate would heartily concur with the House in making suitable provision for Mr. McGee's family. In the House of Commons Sir J. A. Macdonald moved the resolutions of which had been given notice, providing for the family of the late Mr. McGee, and after several members had spoken appropriately of them they were reported by the committee and passed. The House then went into committee on the estimates and passed several additional items, some of which created a good deal of discussion.

Important Developments.

The arrest of several parties in Montreal on Thursday, and the information obtained by the detectives in connection therewith, clearly establishes the fact that a Fenian circle has been in existence for some time in Montreal, and further, enough is shown to make it pretty clear that in that circle was the assassin of Thomas D'Arcy McGee.

When was the instrument chosen to perpetrate the horrid deed. The authorities wisely withhold much information of which they are in possession respecting these new developments, but what has been made public renders it almost certain that the terrible assassination of the lamented McGee was the result of a wide-spread conspiracy, in which it is altogether probable more than Walsen and those arrested were concerned. The names of the parties arrested are Henry Murphy, Patrick Dooly, Felix Callaghan, Kinisels and Matthews. The following is the information respecting these men and their movements so far as made public: Murphy's a shoemaker and is regarded as the leader of the Fenian organization in Montreal. In his house when arrested there was found a complete suit of Fenian uniform, together with important documents throwing light on the operation of the Fenians in that city, as well as upon the plot which it is now pretty clearly established was entered into in Montreal to make away with Mr. McGee.

There is evidence to show that Murphy paid a visit to New York the week before the assassination and had interviews there with O'Neill, leader of the Fenian invasion at Fort Erie. It will be remembered that a statement was made last week in the New York journals that a person from Canada had visited that city who was supposed to have had some connection with the assassination. It is believed Murphy is the person referred to. Kinisels was a waiter at the Russell in Ottawa, and was on intimate terms with Whalen and Doyle. He disappeared from Ottawa last Wednesday morning and the police placed no check upon his movement, although he was not lost sight of a moment. He made his way to Montreal where he had consultations with different suspected parties until last night, when the authorities thought it time to deprive him of his liberty. All his movements after leaving Ottawa were closely watched and nearly everything he did or said is known to the police. Dooly is an innkeeper in Montreal. He was absent in the States for several months lately, returning to Montreal the week before the murder, and saying that he had been in New Orleans. Callaghan is a printer, and a partner in a job printing office in Montreal; and Matthews is a butcher. All these parties belong to a body in Montreal closely allied with the Fenian brotherhood of the United States, and have been open in their expressions of hostility to Mr. McGee. Two or three of them were concerned in riots which took place there at the election last year. They will be held for examination under the habeas corpus suspension act.

The Board of Trade Convention.

Our space will not permit to-day of a lengthened report of the proceedings of the convention at Ottawa. A long discussion took place upon the silver resolution yesterday when finally the following resolution was carried:

"That the Banks of Canada, with the sanction of the Government, buy up all the silver at a discount, say four or five per cent, and hold it as a part of their specie reserve, and agree not to put it again in circulation. They can then take advantage of the best time to sell and ship out of the country;—two per cent can be held in New York, on which money could be borrowed if found necessary. This would give the Banks a circulation for their bills, of which they complain so much at present."

On motion of Mr. Neilson, of Belleville, seconded by Mr. McGillivray, of Ottawa, the following committees were then struck:

1st. The duties on sugar, tea, groceries and liquors. Committee—Messrs. Foster, Patterson, Kelso, Stewart, McGillivray, Cockshill, Cameron, Rowland and Ford.

2d. On manufactures, goods, grain, raw material and coal. Committee—Messrs. Hunt, Williams, Waterson, Workman, Mackenzie, Neilson, Butler and Ford.

Still Further Developments.

IMPORTANT CORRESPONDENCE SEIZED.

Grand Exodus from Canada.

400 Persons Implicated.

The reports which come from Ottawa to-day state that the investigation into the case of Whalen suddenly terminated yesterday, owing to important information which had been received from Montreal. It is altogether possible that the following despatch received this afternoon will give some idea of the nature of the information which the authorities have received. There is little doubt that the Fenian headquarters at Montreal have been unearthed, and the exodus which is taking place from that city shows that more than Whalen is concerned in the murder of McGee.

Important correspondence between the Fenian leaders in Montreal and New York has been seized, and, as a consequence, the despatch says, are on their way to the land of liberty. It is stated that Murphy was at Cleveland only a few days ago in conference with Gen. O'Neill and other Fenian leaders, arranging for an invasion of Canada at an early day, and the belief is gaining ground at Ottawa that the plans for a speedy raid on this country were perfected at that Conference. Whether these later developments will precipitate the action of the Fenians or stop their operations altogether, remains to be seen. The following is the despatch alluded to above, received this afternoon:

New York, April 18th.

The Herald's Montreal special says: All the correspondence which has passed between the Fenian leaders in New York and Montreal has been seized by the Government, and a grand exodus of Irishmen from Canada to the United States commenced this afternoon in consequence. Over four hundred persons are implicated in the correspondence with O'Neill and O'Mahoney, and the entire affair will be brought before the Court in Ottawa. It is reported that an international affair will be made of it, as documents have been discovered which tend to show that the murder of Mr. McGee was approved by a committee in Montreal.

Telegraphic News.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

London, April 17.—Enthusiastic meetings of the liberal party are being held all over England; many more are advertised to occur hereafter. The grievances of the Irish people in general, and particularly the disendowment of all religious sects in Ireland are the objects of these meetings. The speakers embrace most of the well-known liberal leaders in Parliament.

The Fenian trials will commence on Monday next at the Old Bailey in the Court of Queen's Bench, before Lord Chief Justice Cockburn.

Later despatches have been received from Japan which state that the Mikado had declared war against the Tycoon Satohabshi.

Dublin, April 17.—The Prince and Princess of Wales were entertained last evening at a banquet given in their honor by the Lord Lieutenant and Marchioness of Abercorn. A large number of invited guests were present, among whom were Doctor Cullen, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Armagh and the President of the Roman Catholic College of Maynooth. To-day the Prince of Wales and suite took a special train again for Kildare to attend the second day's races there.

London, April 17.—A warrant was issued by the Bow street police magistrates to-day for the arrest of ex-Governor Eyre, of Jamaica, on the charge of illegally procuring military law during the disturbances in that island. It is believed that by this means the legality of the action of Mr. Eyre, while Governor of Jamaica, in adopting extraordinary measures to suppress the insurrection there, will be finally and satisfactorily settled.

Providence, April 17.—It is reported here that Gen. Garibaldi has left Capras and gone to Naples. The rumor causes some uneasiness, as the objects of the General's movements are unknown.

Vienna, April 17.—The report is current that Gen. von Goltz will be appointed ambassador of Austria to St. Petersburg.

Pest, April 17.—The ministerial budget for the kingdom of Hungary has been made public. The financial statement is very favorable. None of the taxes are to be increased, while the taxes on salt and tobacco are to be reduced.

Paris, April 17.—The marriage of Miss Kate Dix, daughter of the American ambassador, and Mr. Walsen, a well-known merchant in the American and European nobilities were present.

New York, April 17.—The Herald's Rome special says that several battles had taken place in Sicily, in most of which the revolutionists were victorious.

The Herald's Bologna special says the serious labor strikes there are at an end. A Government order forbids further associated trade meetings. Their headquarters had been seized by the police.

The Herald's London special says that quiet had been restored in Barcelona, Spain, and the trade riots had ended.

London, April 18, 11:15 a.m.—Consols unchanged. Bonds 1½ to 7½ ex dividend; 1 C&G; 8½ do.

Liverpool, April 18, 11:15 a.m.—Cotton firmer some doing, but unchanged upward to 10½ more active at 12½; sales 10,700 bales, Breadstuffs quiet.

A fire broke out in Mr. D. McDonald's grocery and provision store this morning which proved one of the most disastrous that ever occurred in Belleville. When first discovered, about four o'clock, it had made considerable headway, and the building being frame, it soon fell a prey to the devouring element.

Communicating to the adjoining buildings on both sides, it swept everything before it, as far north as Hambley's, and south to Coleman's building, leaving an ugly gap in the business portion of Front Street. Commanding at the southern end of the burned district, we give the names of the sufferers with an estimate of the loss so far as can be ascertained.

The front part of the store store occupied by Mr. John Wilson, baker and confectioner, was completely gutted. A considerable portion of his stock and furniture was removed, but of course considerably damaged. The back part of the building, including the dining room, was not injured. He was insured in the Liverpool and London for $1,000 on stock and furniture. The bakery was not damaged, and there will, therefore, be no stoppage to his wholesale business. Mr. Wilson estimates his loss over the insurance at $1,000.

The next portion of the building, which was occupied by Mr. Laferte as a dry goods shop and a dwelling, was completely destroyed. Mr. Laferte calculated that he lost about half his stock and half his furniture, while of the personal clothing of the family he scarcely saved anything. He estimates his total loss at $5,000, on which he has an insurance of $3,000 in the North British and Mercantile on Stock, and $500 in the British American on Furniture.

The building was owned by John Turnbull, Esq., and was insured for $4,000; $2,000 in the Liverpool and London, and $2,000 in the Lancashire.

A small frame building which adjoined Laferte's was occupied as a barber shop, a tobacco store and a dwelling by Mr. Condon, whose loss is about $1,000. No insurance.

McDonald's grocery and provision store, where the fire originated, was occupied also as a dwelling. Of the stock of groceries and provisions scarcely anything was saved, and only a small part of the furniture. We understand there is an insurance on the stock, but Mr. McDonald being absent from home, we cannot ascertain the amount, nor the Company in which it is insured.

Adjoining McDonald's on the north was the grocery of Conger Bros., on which they had recently expended some $600 on improvements, and which was not covered by insurance. The front was brick and side walls stone. A large portion of the stock was destroyed. They cannot yet form an estimate of the loss. Insured on stock for $1,000 in the Dublin, and $1,000 in the Lancashire.

Next to Conger Bros. was the jewelry store of Mr. H. Rosenberg who lost in stock about $1,000. The building was of stone and a story and a half high. No insurance.

The store was where the most valuable part of his stock was stored, was opened this forenoon, and fortunately none of it was in the slightest degree injured.

Adjoining Rosenberg's was the tobacco shop of Blumher & Pette, which was also destroyed. They estimate their loss at $400, on which there is no insurance.

The next building was also of stone, and where Mr. Peard was just about to open a new stock of goods. Fortunately for him, by some delay on the Grand Trunk his goods which he expected in the early part of the week only arrived at the station yesterday. There was but one case of goods in the shop, which we understand was removed. Here the fire was checked, though the building of Mr. Hambley had a narrow escape.

Mr. Rosenberg had a lease of all the buildings from Laferte's to Hambley's; including Condon's on the south and Peard's on the north, and we regret to learn had not a dollar of insurance. His loss on buildings will be about $1,000. Nothing damaged by the loss he intends commencing rebuilding at once, and we believe a better and more substantial block of buildings will soon be standing on the site of the burned district.

The total loss will not fall short of $34,000, on which there is an insurance of about $10,000.

It is not known how the fire originated, but as it was first discovered about the centre of McDonald's shop, it is presumed it must have caught from the stove which stood there.

It is very evident, from what we have heard, that there was gross mismanagement of the part of some who had control of the Fire Department. First, it is stated by some that it was fully half an hour, and by others three-quarters of an hour, after the alarm was given, that the Steam Fire Engine was put into motion, and when the engine did arrive it was some time after also was got to work, and that after steam was up, the Engine did not work by the most satisfactory manner. It is further stated that the auction house was put into the river without any screen on, and the consequence was that it was soon choked with gravel and mud, rendering it almost ineffective.

The reports connected with the management of the whole department at this fire are of such a character, that it is almost incredible, and thorough investigation should at once take place. Had the steam engine been on the ground in time and worked as it should, it is the general opinion that the fire would have been confined to the wooden buildings destroyed. For the sake one of the most wonderful cities in the world in Bangkok, the capital of Siam. On either side of the wide majestic stream, moored in regular arrays and always containing as much as can be seen, are upwards of seventy thousand neat little houses, each house floating on a compact raft of bamboo, and the whole intermediate space of the river is one dense mass of ships, masts and boats of every conceivable shape, color and size.

Nothing so much vexes a physician as to find a patient in great haste and to find after his arrival that nothing, and not next to nothing, is the matter with his patient. We remember a urgent case of this kind, in which a gentleman who had just received a slight wound, and gave his servant orders to go home with all speed and fetch a certain plaster. The patient, taking a little pause, said, "I have, sir, I hope there is no danger? Indeed there is, answered the surgeon; for if the fellow does not run like a race horse, the wound will be healed before he possibly can get back."

Late intelligence received from the Pacific coast of Mexico indicate that the country is still in a most unsettled and disorderly condition. The quarrel between the rival Governors of the Western States continues, and the Federal Government is unable to suppress it. Commerce consequently lies prostrate. The roads swarm with guerrillas, while a large influx of American miners from California renders it exceedingly probable that the North-western territory of Mexico will ere long be forcibly annexed to the States. While the miserable Mexicans are engaged in cutting each other's throats, the Yankees will be likely enough to come and quickly appropriate the country. Nor would any one regret their doing so.

THE MEAT SUPPLY OF ENGLAND.—A return has been published relating to the past and present supply of live and dead meat to this country and to the metropolis. Since the prohibition on the importation of cattle in 1842, the largest number of cattle imported in any one year was in 1864, when it amounted to 283,371. The year 1866 showed a decrease of 45,664 on the previous year, and in 1867 there was a further decrease of 59,067 on the number imported in 1866. The same period makes a decline in the number of sheep, lambs, and swine imported into England, the total number of the two former, in 1867, being 534,788, and of the latter 1,078,748. The decrease in, of course, attributed to the temporary restrictions imposed upon the importation of cattle into this country, owing to the cattle plague.

THIS COMPANY is duly incorporated under Cap. 33, Consolidated Statutes of Canada, for the purpose of working the mineral veins upon section acres of Lot No. 12, in the fifth concession of Madoc, (the Richardson Mine being No. 12 in the same concession.)

A shaft has been sunk to the depth of nine feet in the rock. At six feet a gold-bearing lode was struck, of 18 inches in width, which at nine feet has increased to 24 feet, and is crushing at Gilbert & Turley's mill of four and one-half tons of the rock, gave a yield of over fifty six dollars in gold; the lode is clearly defined, and evidently extends the whole length of the property—33 rods.

The territory is admirably situated for mining purposes, being a high ridge covered with indications of mineral veins. There are numerous places on the land fully as promising as the one on which the shaft has been sunk, and which would unquestionably yield as well. The large quantity of land, and the prospects of other gold-bearing veins, and who has in his possession practical experience in the gold mines of California and Nevada, and is unquestionably the most accomplished quartz miner now in this country.

It is intended to have further crushing in a few days, and negotiations are in progress, which, if carried out, will secure a mill to the Company at once, so that regular work will be gone on without delay, and dividends may, in that case, be expected in a short time.

BELLEVILLE, MONDAY, APRIL 30.

NEW STRAVER.—The Trenton Courier understands that the Messrs. Lynch will place a steamer on the Bay route, between Trenton and Montreal, in place of the Empress, which was burned some weeks ago.

PHILHARMONIC CONCERT.—Remember that the Philharmonic Society's Concert, which was unavoidably postponed last week, will take place to-morrow evening, at Ontario Hall. A rich musical treat is promised, and we hope the Society will be greeted with an overflowing house.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.—It is stated that negotiations for the admission of British Columbia into the Confederation are now going on; and that it is likely a bill will be introduced for the admission of that colony before the present session of the Dominion Parliament is prorogued.

CORRUPTION HERE IN FLAURA.—The Tribune, in speaking of the official corruption at Albany, mentioned that "a Senator is currently reported to have sold his vote and influence first to one side for $15,000, and then the other for $20,000, insinuating that he must have $1,000 extra for his son."

THE LATE RACES.—We are requested to state that Mr. Hay, who won the three mile race on Monday last, had never previously, except on one occasion, run in a public race. The occasion in question was at a Caledonian gathering, in the fall of 1893, at Kingston, when he ran a half mile race, with fifteen others, and took the first prize.

THE CHAPMAN.—This is the title of a monthly periodical, devoted to the interests of Masonry, published by J. & R. White, Hamilton, at $1.50 per annum. It is ably conducted, and will, no doubt, prove generally acceptable to the Craft. Mr. Ira Cornwall, Jr., agent of the Chapman, is now in Town soliciting subscribers, and we trust he may add a number to his already large list.

MASONIC.—Sir John A. Macdonald, K. C. B. has been appointed the grand representative of the Grand Lodge of England at the Grand Lodge of Canada, which sits in London on the 14th July next. We are informed that there will be about four hundred and fifty delegates present from all parts of the Dominion; and further, that it is the intention of the Free Masons of London to entertain the grand lodge at a banquet.

EXTENSIVE FORGERIES.—A telegram from Montreal states that James Hingston, dry goods merchant, who was arrested some days ago for forgery, has been found guilty, having been admitted to bail. His forgeries are valued at $100,000. The greater portion of the forged notes were lodged with the banks as collaterals. His partner is not implicated in the matter. The estate will probably pay a large dividend.

THE "PRINCE EDWARD."—The St. Catharines Post says that the name of a new vessel just completed by one of our enterprising shipbuilders, Mr. Minchinton Simpson, the "Prince Edward" is a double-ender steamer, intended for the ferry between Belleville and the County of Prince Edward. She left on Thursday for her destination, and will no doubt prove creditable to our St. Catharines mechanics. The steamer is expected to arrive at this port to-day.

GREAT SALE OF FURNITURE.—Remember the great sale of Furniture which takes place to-morrow, at Roanoke's, Front Street. The Furniture is all manufactured here, by first-class workmen, and of the latest style. Dealers and others wanting to replenish their stock will find this a favorable opportunity to do so, as bargains will, no doubt, be obtained. The sale commences at 10 o'clock, a. m. M. Nally, Auctioneer.

THE HARBOR.—The steamer Bay of Quinte is coming into port Friday evening stuck in the saw dust wharf, once out in the Bay off the low, east wharf, and again in the river. Owing to the obstructions in the river, the boat could not reach the agent's wharf, Mr. Tanssill's, and the freight had to be carried from that to Read's wharf. Every year the harbor is becoming more and more obstructed, and unless something is done pretty soon to dredge it, business at the wharves and storehouses will be stopped altogether.

COGNAC AND MARMORA RAILROAD.—The Cochran Standard says: "We believe that operations will be commenced on our Railway next week. The road has been put in thorough repair, and there is every prospect for a brisk traffic over the line this season. We understand that the Company have engaged to deliver two thousand tons of wood without delay. A large quantity of wood is also to be brought over the line, from the back Townships, for the Grand Trunk; and the lumber trade will be much larger this year than last. There is every indication that the road will have a large business this summer."

Probabilities of a Raid.

Respecting the chances of a Fenian Invasion of this Province this season, the Globe's Ottawa correspondent on Saturday writes: "If I may digress I will do so to say that good authority hereabouts has it that this invasion is a fixed fact, and that, although there has been a great deal of nonsense talked about Fenian cannon, and small arms, yet it is a fact there are sympathizers on the other side of the line who have offered very large sums to aid the project." In confirmation of this belief we give the following extract from a letter to the Kingston Whig, dated Buffalo, April 14th: "It is mooted here that some combined movement of the Fenians against Canada is imminent, and that Mr. McOle's slaughter, although a part of the programme together with the destruction of other eminent men of the Dominion, was premature. The Fenians have been in a state of unusual activity for some time, and from the secrecy and zeal with which they conduct their preparations for mischief, it is apparent that they intend to harm Canada in a manner and with a substantial determination to accomplish their devilish designs. The steadiness of the Fenians in the procession yesterday, and the ease with which they manoeuvred and drilled, was a matter of general remark. The arms, too, with which two battalions of them were supplied, were of the latest breech-loading pattern, and clean and in good condition. The people of Canada should be prepared."

The Ottawa Tragedy.

On Saturday the examination of Whalen was resumed, but as the doors were closed, and representatives of the press and the public were rigorously excluded, nothing has transpired in relation to the evidence given. It is said that a man named Marshall, who was drinking with Whalen on the night of the murder, was one of the witnesses examined. On Saturday morning the officers of the jail missed a short iron bracket which he supported the steam pipes in Whalen's cell and suspected the prisoner had wrenched it off the wall. They removed him to an adjoining cell and stripped him of his clothes found the piece of iron concealed under his arm between his outer and inner shirt. He did not state for what purpose he had concealed the bracket which having a hook on one end would be a formidable weapon in the hands of a desperate man. He probably thought it might prove useful either to wreak his vengeance on the detective who arrested him, or to aid him in escaping from the prison. The officers of the jail made a thorough search of his person, and deprived him of everything which he might turn to an improper use.

The investigation was concluded on Saturday so far as Whalen was concerned, and he was committed for trial at the Fall Assizes on a charge of wilful murder. On securing that he had been passed through this ordeal, Whalen, seemed for a moment, to lose control of himself, thanking Mr. O'Reilly in a sneering manner for having brought up parties to swear falsely against him, and threatening him with a day of reckoning.

Further evidence was taken with regard to other parties implicated in Montreal and other places, but the interests of justice will not permit of the proceedings being disclosed. Further arrests have taken place in Montreal. A good many parties suddenly left Ottawa on Saturday for the States.

The police, while arresting Henry Murphy, one of the prisoners sent to Ottawa found in the cellar underneath his premises a still and also a quantity of whiskey, with materials for operation, and also, a Fenian uniform and documents. Murphy's wife attempted to swallow some notes of the Irish Republic.

Detective O'Neill has received several threatening letters, one of which cautioned him about the evidence he was about to give at the preliminary examination. Mr. Starr, keeper of the boarding house at which Whalen resided, when the murder was committed, was arrested to-day. It is said that Whalen's employer was arrested, in connection with Fenianism.

Whalen appeared to be greatly agitated, when Mr. O'Reilly rose at the close of O'Neill's evidence and said that owing to important information received from Montreal he would have to request the Police Magistrate to adjourn until to-morrow, and then to sit with closed doors.

A Fenian bond for twenty dollars was issued about the court room Saturday morning. It was duly engraved, and contained the license of Wolfe Tone and Robert Emmet. It is said that it was found among the Fenian documents now in possession of the authorities.

The Treasurer of the General Relief Society acknowledges, with thanks, the sum of two dollars and sixty-one cents, from Dr. Oway.

Cassius M. Clay, U. S. Minister to Russia, has resigned, and Secretary Brewster has ordered Mr. Carlin, the Secretary of Legation, to take charge of the office. Mr. Clay intends to stamp Kentucky, his native State, in the interests of the Republican delegates to the Chicago Convention.

Insolvency.

The question of Insolvency has been brought before Parliament on one or two occasions, and a Committee was appointed to enquire into the workings of the present Bankrupt Law. The Committee have submitted an elaborate report on the nature and operation of the laws respecting bankruptcy and insolvency in the various Provinces of the Union. Their conclusions are summed up as follows:

1st. That no complete system of bankruptcy or insolvency is in force in any of the Provinces, except the Insolvency Act of 1867.

2nd. That the operation of that Act has been beneficial.

3rd. That its operation would be improved by adopting a system of voluntary assignments that would prevent delay, but leave the ultimate choice to the assignee or Act of 1867.

4th. By allowing the creditors perfect freedom of choice of assignee.

5th. By providing for a more convenient means of controlling the assignee through superior or inspectors appointed from among the creditors, by shortening the period within which the estate must be sold or declared, and the like, by permitting a sale of an entire estate, with sanction of the creditors, either for a fixed price, or for a price to be fixed upon the liabilities.

6th. By providing for the punishment of fraudulent acts as creditors, by the power to receive the creditors over the debtor's discharge.

7th. By authorizing the contestation of discharges and the confirmation of discharges at the expense of the estate.

8th. By adjusting several minor details in procedure, chiefly in the Province of Ontario.

The subject of the examination of the wife of the insolvent, and the power to receive his letters, are discussed without being decided, and the increase of absolute disqualifications for receiving a discharge by reason of their inability to account for losses and non-payment of a limited amount of dividends, are reported upon unfavorably.

The Committee being of opinion that such grounds are more proper subjects for the exercise of the power to receive his letters, and a discharge or classifying it as a second or third class. A large number of other minor suggestions are discussed at great length in the report.

THE NOVA SCOTIA REPEAL DELEGATION.—The Halifax Reporter says: "We have reliable intelligence from the Repeal Delegation. Gloom overshadows the faces which left here so blooming. Mr. Howe and Mr. Amand did not expect success, so they are not disappointed. Messrs. Troop and Smith are growing anxious lest their constituencies put them down as fools for having attempted such a hopeless task. An Anti-Unionist friend writes very hopefully that the Repeal delegation have not the ghost of a shade of a chance, either with the present Government or with Mr. Gladstone's following. The only hope they have is in the event of Mr. Bright and his friends getting power, who would grant their request, because they believe that Confederation means a longer language on to England's 'apron strings' than dissolution does. This statement by our friend is corroborated by telegrams which have been received by high functionaries in the Dominion from high functionaries in Great Britain."

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer.

Fenian Uniforms.

DEAR SIR,—I observe that some importance is attached to the fact that Murphy, who was arrested in Montreal, had in his possession a complete uniform of green. It is needless to say that the uniform is a long time ago, and some impudent scoundrel had the temerity to appear at a skating carnival in Belleville, dressed in some such dress. It strikes me that it would be very desirable to know who the individual was, and if he still possesses the green dress. Believing that death should be dealt out to every assassin, I remain, Bellefille, April 20, 1898.

Progress of Popery in England.

The Observer's Roman has a leading article entitled "Catholicism in the Nineteenth Century," which is principally devoted to demonstrating the progress of Popery in England. We quote the following concluding paragraph:—"In the year 1800, England had 284 Catholic priests, 410 churches, 16 convents and no monastery or religious house for men. In 1862, the priests were 1242, the churches 732, the religious houses for women were 162, and for men 25. In 1887, the priests were 1415, the churches 1014, the monasteries 83, the convents 204, and colleges 11. In the sole city of London there are 17 convents for men and 33 for women, 15 monasteries and 11 colleges. The number of Catholics in the principal cities of the United Kingdom is becoming every day more considerable. At Liverpool there 100,000 Catholics, Manchester contains more than 70,000, and in London there more than 300,000. Conversions to Catholicism continue in yearly increasing proportions. In London there are every year about 1,000 persons converted, half of whom belong to the aristocracy and education, and the other half to the working classes. The proportion of the progress in the number of priests, churches and convents in the city of London is as follows:—In 1820 there were 100, 48 Catholic priests; in 1870 there were 113, and in 1893, 194. In 1820 there were 34 churches, in 1851, 46, and in 1893, 108. At first epoch there was only one convent, at the second 9, and now 25. No religious house for men existed in 1820. Now there are 25, besides 34 hospitals and charitable institutions which did not exist at all that time. This is how Catholicism is progressing in England, one of the very centers of Anglicanism—of the most formidable enemies of the Apostolic Roman Catholic Church."

Board of Trade Convention.

OTTAWA, April 18.

The Convention of Delegates from the Boards of Trade met at three o'clock. Reports from the various Committees were submitted as follows:

Mr. Forster, for the Banking Committee, approves the present system, and would discontinue the clause which grants the privilege. They express satisfaction at the appointment of a Parliamentary committee on the subject.

As to insolvency, the committee express no opinion. In view of the appointment of a Parliamentary committee and the action of the Government in eliciting information on the question. They hope that inquiries may result in the adoption of a more satisfactory system.

On sugar, the committee recommended one cent specific, and 22 per cent ad valorem. Molasses, 70 cents per hundred pounds on all kinds. Tea, a uniform duty of 4 cents specific, and 20 per cent ad valorem. Coffee, and chicory one cent specific, and 50 per cent ad valorem on all classes. Fruits, a continuance of present duties without addition of any specific duty. Tobacco, three cents on imported leaf, and two cents on cut tobacco. Customs duties on manufactured tobacco. Liquors, that duty should be charged according to strength, whether above or below proof, as in the case of quantity, whether in wood or bottle.

Wine, a duty equal to that charged on Canadian wine going into the United States, that present duty be materially reduced. Cash payments, that a discount of 10 per cent be allowed for cash, and that goods bought on credit be allowed a discount, reducing them to net cash value. That the 12th clause of the Customs Act relating to commissions be abolished.

Mr. Rowland, from the Committee on Excise Laws, recommends a duty of 35 cents per barrel of alcohol, whether in wood or bottle, and 50 cents per barrel on refined oil, and similar customs duties on oils in addition to present duties. That an Inspector be appointed to inspect the barrels, and that no oil should be offered for sale that will not stand a vapor test of 100°.

Such oils to be classified as No. 3, oils standing test 110° and over, No. 2, oils standing test 100° and under, and No. 1, oils standing test 90° and under. That the Inland Revenue Act is oppressive and unworkable, and recommend that such amendments be made as will simplify the most complex revenue on a mail order basis.

Mr. McKenzie, from the Committee on Export Duties, reported in favor of the following duties:—Single bolts, per cord, $1; steam bolts, oak, white ash and rock elm, $2; all other bolts, $1.50. Two inch diameter, per 1,000 bolts, $4; split hoop material, per 1,000 $1; hoop poles, per 1,000 $4; telegraph poles, 20 feet long, per 100, $10; 100 feet long, $2; fence poles and railway ties, 10 feet long and under, average 8 inches diameter, per 100 posts or ties, $1; saw logs (pine) per standard yard, 20 cts.; hardwood, 25 cts.; clogs, shingles, with the bark on, 20 per cent.

Mr. Hunt, from the committee on manufactured goods, grain, coal, and other raw materials, reported the following recommendations:—That all machinery, manufactured from cast and wrought iron, brass, or any other metal, and also candle wick, rated on the free list, be chargeable with fifteen per cent duty. That all machinery, rated on the free list, be made to pay fifteen per cent duty. That all kinds of grain be admitted free. That raw material specially required for manufacturing purposes be admitted free. That great hardship be inflicted on the country, and a severe blow given to manufacturers if any duty should be imposed on coal.

A good deal of discussion took place on the first item of the report referring to the duties on sugar, in which Messrs. Forster, McGillivray, Carruthers, Redford, Nelson, Cookshall, and Kelso spoke in favor of the change recommended in the tariff. Messrs. Perry, Howe and Cameron opposed any change. The following motion in amendment was put and lost.

Moved by Mr. G. Perry, seconded by Mr. D. Cameron, that it be resolved that the interests of the Dominion would be best served by a system of ad valorem duties on imports, and this especially in relation to sugars levied on the value at the place of production.

The several clauses of this report were then adopted, until that recommending a duty on lent tobacco was reached.

On motion of Mr. Patterson, seconded by Mr. Bates, the clause recommending a duty of three cents per leaf was struck out of the report.

When the clause referring to hops was reached, Mr. A. J. Dickson, seconded by Mr. Hinton, moved in amendment to this clause that hops imported from the United States be admitted free as at present. The motion was put and lost.

The remaining clauses of the report were then passed.

The report on manufactured goods, grain, raw materials, coals, was then taken up and passed without amendment.

The export duties were next considered. The item referring to round hoop poles was by consent changed from four dollars to three dollars per thousand poles. Reference was made to the destruction of the trees by the manufacture of extract from the bark, and the report was amended by imposing a rate of 20 per cent ad valorem on the extract from the bark.

The report on excise duties was then considered and adopted.

The reports on banking and insolvency were considered and passed.

The reports were then ordered to be embodied and printed, and were presented to the Finance Minister by such members as are here.

Thanks were voted to the Board of Trade of Ottawa, to the chairman and secretary, and the Convention adjourned about seven o'clock.

The La Crosse Democrat calls General Butler "a thing," but does not carry farther so far as to add, with the poet, "of beauty," and "a joy forever."

The Western Railroads are doing a pretty good business this spring, if the carriages of the Chicago and Northwestern road may be taken as a sample. It is estimated that the gross week of April are set down at $225,499, an increase of $88,000 over the corresponding period of last year.

American Despatches.

NEW YORK, April 19.—The Press festival to Mr. Charles Dickens took place last evening at Delmonico's. Among the 300 present were Messrs. Horace Greeley, H. J. Raymond, M. McIntosh, of Philadelphia, Dr. Henry H. Knolly, Richard Hoe, Samuel Bowles, Martin Marble, G. W. Curtis, and others of note. After the guests had assumed their places, Mr. Dickens entered, under the escort of Mr. Horace Greeley, and was cordially received. After the auspicious vials had been discussed fully, Mr. Greeley, who presided, opened the exercises by referring to his introduction to the Americans 34 years ago, of the young English writer then known as Boz. After some complimentary allusions to their guest, Mr. Greeley said:—"The American press honored itself in honoring the man who had climbed from the lower rungs of the ladder of the press and its triumph in attaining his present eminence was shared alike by every individual member of the fraternity." He concluded by offering, as a toast, health, happiness, honor and generous recompense to his friend and guest, Mr. Charles Dickens. When applause subsided, Mr. Dickens responded in an extended address, in the course of which he referred to his first emigration to America, and the friendly allusion to the feeling excited among the Americans by the unfavorable opinions expressed in his "American notes" and "Martin Chuzzlewit." He was delighted to witness the improvement in the social, moral and material condition of the country, at this his last visit. In the words referred to, he had given his honest impressions at that time. He then said that it was his intention to write another book on America, on his return to England. He should, in his own journal, publish his present impressions upon America, and do justice to the people of this country. He pledged himself that so long as he or his people had any interest in the editions of "Martin Chuzzlewit" and "American notes," that those books should contain as appendices, refuting any aspersions therein contained. He paid high compliment to the energy, enterprise and talent which characterized American Journalism, and wished his heaven all prosperity and happiness, closing by invoking all blessings upon the country and its people. Towards him, speeches were also made by Messrs. H. J. Raymond, G. W. Demers of the Albany Journal, J. A. Young of the Tribune, and many others. The Hall was finally decorated, and the party separated about 12 o'clock.

THIS COMPANY is duly incorporated under Chap. 23, Consolidated Statutes of Canada,

for the purpose of working the mineral veins upon sixteen acres of Lot No. 19, in the fifth concession of Madoc, (the Richardson Mine being No. 18 in the same concession.)

A shaft has been sunk to the depth of nine feet in the rock. At six feet a gold-bearing vein was struck, of 18 inches in width, which at nine feet has increased to 24 feet, and a crushing at Gilbert & Turley's mill of four and one-half tons of the rock, gave a yield of over fifty-six dollars in gold; the lode is clearly defined, and evidently extends the whole length of the property—53 rods.

The territory is admirably situated for mining purposes, being a high ridge covered with indications of mineral veins. There are numerous places on the land fully admitting as the one on which the shaft has been sunk, and which would unquestionably yield as well. The large quantity of land, and the prospects of other gold-bearing veins, make it certain that the Company will be able to subdivide the property as soon as a few further developments have been made, and form other Companies at great advantage.

Work is being vigorously prosecuted in the shaft, under the superintendence of JOHN G.

SHURTZ, Esq., one of the Directors, who is largely interested in the proprietary of the mine, and who has had thirteen years' practical experience in the gold mines of California and Nevada, and is unquestionably the most accomplished quartz miner now in this country.

It is intended to have a further crushing in a few days, and negotiations are in progress

which, if carried out, will secure a mill to the Company at once, so that regular work will be gone on without delay, and dividends may, in that case, be expected in a short time.

The principles on which this Company is founded contain all the elements required to develop the benefits of Life Insurance, and afford every facility to intending assurers.

One of the advantages secured by those who insure their lives with this Company is that the outside expenditure for Management is absolutely restricted by the Decree of the Legislature to Ten per Cent. of the Net Life Income. This most important restriction shows that the interests of participating policy holders are closely watched, and carefully attended by the Company. Attention is especially called to this point, as the proportion of premiums expended for Management

Must Largely Influence Profits and Bonuses.
The next division of profits takes place in 1869, and all those who wish to participate in the profits should insure at once.

THE ASSASSINATION.

MORE IMPORTANT TESTIMONY.

THE MOVEMENTS OF WHALEN IN THE HOUSE ON THE NIGHT OF THE MURDER—BUCKLEY'S EVIDENCE CONTRADICTED—NEW FACTS COMING TO LIGHT.

(From the Toronto Telegram.)

OTTAWA, April 20.
Mr. O'Reilly is engaged to-day in taking the depositions of those witnesses who are possessed of information in regard to the assassination case. This examination was conducted privately, but it has transpired that among these witnesses made statements were Ingles and Ed. Starr. The evidence which the former was enabled to give I have already informed you. Starr, who is a messenger in the House of Commons, and whose duty it is to prepare blue books and public documents for the Speaker, made a rather important statement, which supports that of the messenger Graham, and puts in a somewhat unfavourable situation the messenger Patrick Buckley, who testified before the Police Magistrate on Thursday. Starr says he saw a man whom he afterwards identified as Whalen no less than seven times in the House of Commons on the night of Mr. McGee's murder, at different times and in different places on each occasion. The first time he saw him was when Mr. McGee was speaking probably a little before ten o'clock.

Starr went to the door of the House on the right of the Speaker, and the first words he heard Mr. McGee utter were about "striking below the belt." At that moment he looked up into the public gallery and saw Whalen whom he did not then know. He was sitting on the front seat, his arms leaning on the railing. As Mr. McGee continued speaking Whalen gazed at him intently, and raising his right hand, shook his finger threateningly in Mr. McGee's direction. There was a minute or two of silence, and then another man with him, a small, light complexioned man, to whom Whalen turned and spoke, after shaking his finger. He then struck both breasts with his hands several times, and repeatedly thrust his right hand into the breast pocket of his coat. Starr was so much impressed with the singular conduct of the man that he went around to the public gallery and told the messengers they should not allow such characters into the gallery. They laughed and something was said about those who had tickets having a right to go in. The next time Starr saw him was at the door of the lobby below, near where Buckley was sitting. He was then standing with his arms crossed looking along the corridor towards the library. Soon after this he saw Whalen and his companion in the gallery, this time at the north end, instead of east side, as before. About ten o'clock Starr had occasion to go to the messengers' room for the mailbag, and passed through the lobby down into the vestibule, and thence by the landing to the messengers' room. On the right outside of the lobby were Whalen and his companion standing in earnest conversation. Starr found Patrick Buckley lying asleep in the messengers' room. After assuming himself for a few moments by tucking Buckley under the nose with a pocket full of Clocks, the two men were standing outside the door of the lobby. Starr was determined to have a good look at them; so he stood beside them, and scrutinized them for nearly a minute. Starr seeing Starr was watching him, turned and stared at him intently, whereupon Starr turned and went to his room. Soon afterwards Starr again saw the two in the public gallery. A few minutes afterwards while the discussion was going on about the withdrawal of Dr. Parker's motion, Starr went out to put a paper in the post office. When he got into the lobby he saw Buckley in his seat at the entrance and Whalen standing beside him with his arms folded. They were talking together, and as Starr turned from the post office he heard Buckley say, with some sharpness, "I don't know." Starr then went to the reporters' gallery. When he got there, and looked across the House, he saw Whalen and his companion standing in the passage leading from the door at the head of the stairs to the public gallery. They had evidently just come up the stairs and were leaning on the partition which runs behind the Senators' and Speakers' gallery, and looking down into the body of the House. In a second Starr saw two the motion of adjustment was put by the Speaker and Starr left the reporters' gallery, the two men opposite going to the door of the public gallery at the same time. In addition to the statement Starr gave on Friday last when he was paying some money to Buckley the latter remarked, "The last night Whalen was in the House he offered to pay me three dollars for a buggy and horse he had of me in return for what I'll never get it now." Starr thought the remark singular especially as Buckley had denied under oath the previous day that he had had any conversation with Whalen that night. Whalen is a respectable man who has been in the employ of the House for 18 years. He must not be confounded with Michael Starr at whose house Whalen boarded and who is now in custody.

CONTINGENCIES.
M. LANGEVIN moved that the Y.

Mr. JOHNSON charged the Government with shirking the responsibility of reducing the expenses, by placing that duty in the hands of a committee. If expenses were too high, they should have been

Mr. HUNTINGDON said he felt sure Home and country would support attempt to bring about a fair and equitable retrenchment. At the same time, he

Mr. JONES (Leeds and Grenville)

Mr. Pore was opposed to an indiscriminate reduction of the salaries, as some of the officials could make much more of their profession than they received.

Messrs. BODWELL and MILLS spoke in favor of the report.

After recess, Mr. J. S. Ross resumed the discussion. He expressed dissent from some provisions of the report, but thought if adopted

The House then went into committee.

Mr. LANGRISH moved the adoption of the first resolution of the report, as follows:—“That six of the permanent office clerks of the House be dispensed with.”

The gates of lock No. 3 were carried away between 1 and 3 o'clock this morning by the propeller Congress, bound up. It is expected that navigation will be resumed on Friday morning.

—South Carolina in its late election, ratified the New Constitution and elected the entire Republican ticket.

—The clause in the new Constitution of Michigan, allowing negroes to vote, was defeated by a majority of 40,000.

—George Kane, of Halifax, sold his wife lately to a man named Norbury, for $500 Nova Scotia currency. The article must be cheap down there.

—The London Times of the 21st ult. states that the Hon. Dr. Tupper arrived in London on the 20th March, and had an interview with the Duke of Buckingham, at the Colonial Office on the 20th.

The editor of the Nor' Wester challenges any country situated north of latitude 40° to produce a record of finer weather than they have enjoyed in the Red River Settlement, since the 15th of February. Hardly a particle of snow has fallen since that date and the amount of snow has been sufficient to ensure good sleighing until within the last two weeks. The snow is rapidly disappearing, and every indication betokens an early spring, with no great amount of high water.

—Mr. William Young, of the Albion, sunk, it is said, $12,000 in his every afternoon in a single month.

—Prince Arthur is about to make a tour in Italy and the East. The Duke of Edinburgh will visit the West Indies in the spring.

Virginia has a carved cane which contains the names of General R. E. Lee, General Stonewall Jackson, and President John Adams. The cane is in full, beautiful condition, and is a valuable relic of the war.

An Indian family, near Eagle River, have been living in high Arctic style this winter, having devoured no less than three worn-out horses. Old Lo declared that the last subject made good soup, roasts, steaks and horse-pot-pies, but his hand legs were usually reserved, probably for his exertions in starting heavy loads during his life-time.

The Markham Economist says the spring work has commenced in earnest, and farmers are all busy ploughing and sowing, preparing their spring crops. Notwithstanding the late severe frost, the fall wheat does not seem to be injured, but look remarkably well, better than it has for years.

MUSTARD AND MEAT.—A poor emaciated Irishman, having called at a physician in a foreign hope, the latter spread a huge mustard plaster and clapped it on the poor fellow's breast. Pat, with a tearful eye, looking down upon it said, "Doctor, doctah, dear, it strikes me that it's a dale of mustard for a little mite."

LOST HIS BALANCE.—"Who is he? said a passer-by to a policeman, who was endeavoring to raise an individual who had fallen into a gutter. "Can't say, sir," replied the policeman; "he can't give any account of himself." "Of course not," replied the other: "How are you to expect an account from a man who has lost his balance?"

DIRECTIONS FOR FARTING.—Never faint when you are alone. Always select some good opportunity. The more persons there are about you, the more successful will be your feat. A friend's house, when there is a dinner or evening party going on, is far from a bad opportunity. Never faint more than once in the same evening, as there may be a falling off in the sympathy on the second experiment. A woman should not faint until well, but by above suspicion. Be very careful, therefore, never to risk a faint unless you have some object in view, such as going out of town—or a new gown—or a box at the opera—or being taken to some feast—or any other little caprice which your husband may obstinately refuse you. In such cases hysterics are sometimes justifiable.

THIS COMPANY is duly incorporated under Cap. 23, Consolidated Statutes of Canada, for the purpose of working the mineral veins upon sixteen acres of Lot No. 19, in the fifth concession of Madoc, (the Richardson Mine being No. 15 in the same concession.)

A shaft has been sunk to the depth of nine feet in the rock. At six feet a gold-bearing lode was struck, of 18 inches in width, which at nine feet has increased to 24 feet, and a crushing at Gilbert & Turley's mill of four and one-half tons of the rock, gave a yield of over fifty-six dollars in gold; the lode is clearly defined, and evidently extends the whole length of the property—32 rods.

The territory is admirably suited for mining purposes, being a high ridge covered with indications of mineral veins. There are numerous places on the land fully as promising as the one on which the shaft has been sunk, and which would unquestionably yield as well. The large quantity of land, and the prospect of other gold-bearing veins, make it certain that the Company will be able to subdivide the property as soon as a little further development has been made, and form other Companies at great advantage.

Work is being vigorously prosecuted in the shaft, under the superintendence of JOHN G. SHURTZ, Esq., one of the Directors, who is largely interested in the property of the mine, and who has had thirteen years' practical experience in the gold mines of California and Nevada, and is unquestionably the most accomplished quartz miner now in this country.

It is intended to have a further crushing in a few days, and negotiations are in progress which if carried out, will secure a mill to the Company at once, so that regular work will be gone on with without delay, and dividends may, in that case, be expected in a short time.

DOMINION TRADE MARKS

OTTAWA, April 22nd, 1868.
SUFFPLEMENTARY ESTIMATES.

Mr. ROSE brought down a message from the Governor-General transmitting to the House of Commons further estimates of the sums required for the service of the Dominion for the year ending 30th June, '68, as follows:—Legislation, $13,500, being additional on account of printing; $10,000 for mileage to members; $1,500 for military additional on account of clothing $15,000 public works, $42,500; additional on

FISHERIES.

Mr. FORTIN presented the 2nd report of the select committee on fisheries and navigation as follows:—

Your committee having taken into consideration the subject of licensing of foreign vessels engaged in the gulf and sea fisheries are of opinion that a tonnage fee of per ton should be imposed on American vessels, fishing in Canadian waters, a on the coast fisheries as will be proportioned to the tonnage fee on the large vessels. Also that a sufficient force should be employed to enforce the due payment of such fees, or prevent non-licensed vessels fishing in those waters, and that provision should be made for the distribution of the monies derived from such tonnage due by a system of bounties or otherwise for the benefit of the fishing interest.

Your committee would respectfully urge upon the government of the Dominion the expediency of endeavoring to secure co-acted action with the government of Prince Edward Island, in the imposition of tonnage fees on American vessels and protection of the fisheries in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

HONOURS CONFERRED.

MR. HOLTON enquired if the minister were to bring down further correspondence as to the dignities conferred on members of this House in addition to the papers already brought down.

M. LANGEVIN read the following answer:—I am authorized to state that the G

Governor General, acting as an executive officer of the Imperial Government, reserve to himself the right of withholding from Parliament any documents the public of which might in his judgment be prejudicial to the public service. With respect to communications from the Secretary of State for the colonies marked "private" or "confidential" it is not competent for the Governor General to give copies of such correspondence to Parliament without the express sanction of the Secretary of State.
 This rule of course equally applies to letters written by the Governor General

third party communicating confidentially to them or referring to the contents of "private" or "confidential" letters from the Secretary of State and to answers to such letters received by the Governor General.

Mr. HOLTON thought a communication of this kind should be placed on record in the Journals of the House.

M. LANGEVIN dissented. It would be published in the newspapers as any ordinary reply of the government.

Mr. HOLTON said this was an authorized reply to the Honorable member's question.

SIR JOHN A. MACDONALD said he would take this opportunity of making an announcement which he was sure would be received with feelings of gratification in the House and the country. He had the pleasure of being able to state that His Majesty had graciously signified His intention and desire of creating the Hon. E. Cartier a Baronet of the United Kingdom, and the Hon. Cartier a companion of the Bath. (Loud applause.)

M. LILLO, congress leader, expressed his indignation at the mark of favor which he thought was awarded to the work of the request. M. BABOVIĆ'S reply was entered by the minutes. The grave remonstrance addressed to the Imperial authorities by two leading men of this country could not be allowed to pass without some formal action being taken upon them, and he looked to the government to take the initiative.

M. CHAUVEAU congratulated his countrymen on the marks of favor they had received, but expressed regret that the

Mr. MACKENZIE said, that however it might differ politically from the Minister of Militia, he had no hesitation in saying that if any man in the country had earned the dignity it was the Minister of Militia. If hard work and devotion to the interests of his countrymen entitled any man to the distinction it was the Hon. the Minister of Militia. He consoled, however, with the Minister of Finance who was now alone, but his time would probably come—live-and-hve.

Mr. ROSE warmly repudiated the idea that he felt anything but the most unqualified pleasure in learning of the hour conferred on the Minister of Militia. (Cheers) He had been his political and personal friend for years, and believed that there was no Englishman, Scotchman, or Irishman in the country but would rejoice as unqualified in the announcement as the local gentlemen's own countryman. (Cheers.)

Dr. PARKER and Mr. MARSH (Soulange) also congratulated the Minister of Militia, the former expressing the opinion that the suggestion by the Minister for Chateau Grey, with respect to Mr. Langlois's reply, should be adopted.

OATHS OF ALLEGIANCE.

On motion of Sir JOHN A. MACDONALD the bill respecting commissions and oaths of allegiance and office, was considered in the committee of the whole, and read a third time and passed.

CURRENCY.

On motion of Mr. ROSI, the bill respecting the currency was read a second time and referred to the committee of the whole to-morrow.

CONTINGENCIES.

On motion of Mr. ROSE the bill respecting the contingencies of the departments was read a second time and referred to a committee of the whole to-morrow.

MILITIA.

Sir GEORGE COLEBURN second reading of the militia bill, and explained at length in French its provisions. He then went on to state the amount proposed to be spent for fortifications. It was proposed to borrow on the imperial guarantee £250,000, annually for four years at 6 per cent and 1 per cent sinking fund. The annual charge for this would be—1st year, $35,583; 2nd, $107,006; 3rd, $169,000; 4th, $214,138; 5th, $257,669; and thenceforward at the latter annual rate for about 33 or 34 years according as the sinking fund is invested at 5 or 6 per cent; after which the annual payment will diminish for 5 years in the reverse order in which it had increased during the first 5 years; so that the entire debt would be extinguished in 42 or 39 years, according as the sinking fund is invested at 5 or 6 per cent. He proposed to spend $300,000 for fortifications in New Brunswick; $430,000 in Montreal, and the balance would be distributed throughout Ontario at Kingston, Toronto, Hamilton, and Paris or London.

Mr. GRAY drew a comparison between the military expenditure in Canada and that in other countries showing that Canada was taxed for that purpose less per head than any other country. In Great Britain the military expense per head was $4.25; in the United States, $6.47, and at present it was $1.97. In Prussia, in 1884, it was $1.33, and France, $2.63 per head, while in Canada under the new militia bill the tax for military expenses would only be 25 cents per head.

Mr. MACDONALD (Toronto), said he was greatly surprised at the bill and considered it far superior to the bill of 1883. He entirely approved of the principle of conscription which he considered would prove an incentive to volunteering. He argued that provision should be made for special corps well drilled and equipped, such as engineers and artillery. He strongly urged the importance of drill instruction in connection with schools and colleges and also the importance of drill instruction in the militia. He thought should be provided with rifles at reduced prices.

Mr. COCHRAN argued at length in favor of an extension of time for drill, by drilling 20,000 men yearly, for three months. Ten years would give something like 200,000 men thoroughly drilled and instructed in military tactics.

Mr. BOWEN discussed at some length on the militia bill and objected to the enormous militia. He thought the bill was provided under the bill was sufficient for a million of men.

After some question asked the Minister of Militia by Mr. DORION and Mr. MACKENZIE, with regard to the fortifications, the debate was adjourned till to-morrow by a motion of Sir G. E. Cartier.

The House adjourned at 12:30.

Mr. McGee's Last Lecture.

The following concluding portion of the late Mr. McGee's lecture on "The newspaper press," delivered in Ottawa a day or two before his death, will be read with interest.

"The difficult questions of the fairness of anonymous writing, or the reverse, I do not propose to enter; preferring to pass by in this place, with the dictum of my friend, the Hon. Quilley, that 'a man should be held on both sides of that question.' This newspaper revolution, however, has taken place, and will not be turned backwards. We are, whether we will or not, in a newspaper era, born and bred. It is impossible to overstate the social importance of the press. As Mr. Burke once observed (I quote from memory), 'It is part of the reading of all, and the whole of the reading of many.' It brings the ends of the earth daily to our fireplaces and our breakfast tables. The poles are no longer 'wide asunder,' nor are the Antipodes distant, since Ariel has turned editor. 'The deserts wait' and 'Andes wait' of Abyssinia, and Central Asia, are not beyond the reach of this hundred armed and hundred eyed monster of activity and intelligence. And in the art of distributing, the press is quite as wonderful as in the art of acquiring information. 'What is it,' ask De Tocqueville, 'drops the same thought at the same moment into ten thousands?' and he answers, 'The newspaper.' I remember a curious estimate some years ago in New York, that only fifty copies of the New York Herald were sold before closing, but the next morning, after the expression of a hope, that this revolution brings us large knowledge, it may, at the same time, incline us with wider sympathies; that it may affect us, as to every good cause, in the same way as his newspaper interested the poet Cowper in the fortunes of the navigator, Captain Cook.

"I read his book, his history, his passing eyes, his paper, with a kindred heart. Let us hope that it will be among the abiding effects of this new social power, to make public life nobler, and private life more pure; to strengthen the arm of just authority, and weaken or extinguish religious rancor; to be to the weak a shield, and to the strong a curb-rein; in short to make man more manly and woman more womanly, and so to hasten the advent of the promised, 'good time coming.'

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, THURSDAY, APRIL 23.

LIVE AND SPEECHES OF MR. MCGEE.—The Montreal Gazette says: "We are glad to be able to announce that Mrs. McGee has given authority to Mr. Chamberlain, P. M. T. K. Ramsey, and Mr. George Murray, to edit and publish the lectures, speeches, &c., of late published in the public press, which will be of great public interest, and will be for the benefit of the family. It will be, we understand, accompanied with a memoir of Mr. McGee's life, founded upon authentic data; and such historical notes as will connect and make consecutive the different pieces. The work will be published by subscription."

IMMORAL PAPER.—The new book of Regulations for Postmasters, about to be issued by the Post Office department will contain an instruction as follows:—"The transmission of obscene or immoral books, papers or publications, 'photographs, or pictures through the Post, is strictly prohibited; and all packets containing such articles should be stopped and sent under cover to the Postmaster-General.' A similar regulation ought to be put in force respecting packages of papers coming by Express. Notwithstanding the recent edict against the circulation of the National Police Gazette—a most immoral paper—it is sold as publicly as ever at the Bookstores."

NEWSPAPERS FROM THE UNITED STATES.—The Postmaster General has authorized a change in the Post Office Regulations with respect to the rate of postage to be charged on newspapers coming from the United States addressed to regular subscribers in Canada. The instructions issued on the 1st of April, constituted this rate at two cents each paper, the amendment reduces the rate to one cent. This reduction will also apply to American papers sent to regular subscribers by newspapers in the Dominion. In fact the position of this class of paper reverts to what it was before the 1st of April. Transient American newspapers coming from the United States will continue to be liable on delivery to a charge of two cents.

SOME ONE DROWNED.—About eleven o'clock last night cries of distress were heard by several parties residing on the west side of the River, near the site of the Upper Bridge. They appeared to proceed from some one who, it is supposed, had fallen into the River a short distance above the retirement wall, and was being carried down the rapid current. Efforts were made to reach him but without avail, and the cries of the drowning person, which were heard distinctly by several, grew fainter and fainter until he was out of sight. The night being very dark no object could be distinguished in the River. Search is being made along the River, and at its mouth, but, up to the time of going to press, the body had not been found. We have not heard of any one being missing in the town, so that the unfortunate person must have been a stranger.

The House Yesterday.

In the House of Commons, Mr. Chamberlain introduced a bill to reduce the indemnity to members of the House to $450 a day for a session of sixty days, and five dollars a day for a session of less than sixty days. The motion was a discussion, several members condemning the author, whilst others approved of it. The House subsequently proceeded to resume the debate on the militia bill, which was strongly denounced by Mr. DORION as imperfect, and as an attempt to spend money extravagantly for little purpose. The debate was finally adjourned till to-day after several members had spoken upon the question.

Norfolk Wilson has been appointed to the vacant Norfolk Judgeship.

The nomination for the Western Division of Montreal takes place on the 7th of May.

The Maritime Provinces.

Our exchanges from the Maritime Provinces are filled with particulars concerning the assassination of Mr. McGee. The murder seems to have produced as profound a sensation and horror throughout those Provinces as in Ontario and Quebec, and all the papers, both Union and Anti-Union, have eloquent panegyrics on the deceased. St. John's (N. B.) Telegraph is not half pleased with the speech made by Mr. Anglin, in the House of Commons, at the time that body adjourned out of respect to the deceased. It says:—"The remarks of the several speakers in the Commons were so generous and fervid in their allusions to the merits of the deceased that Mr. Anglin's comments appear tame and cold. But Mr. Anglin's dislike of Mr. McGee has of late years been so frequently exhibited, and had become so notorious, that perhaps his speech is in better taste than if he had lavished encomiums on a man whom, when living, he had envied and persistently maligned. We publish the report of Mr. Anglin's speech, not because of any value attaching to it, but to gratify the many who were curious to learn what Mr. A. would have to say on the sad subject."

The following summary of news we compile from our exchanges. The Halifax Express says: A fine lot of gold was on exhibition at the office of Messrs Huse and Lowell, to-day, consisting of eight bars from the following districts, Renfrew, 1 bar, weight, 94 ounces; Mount Unken, 1 bar, 63 oz; Sherbrooke, 5 bars, weight 490 oz; Tanager, 1 bar, 57 oz; being a weight of nearly 800 ounces.

Two more sealers have arrived at Harbor Grace from the ice. The steamer Motif and Retriever have returned home with full fares, the former having 1900 seals.

The Halifax Express says: The City Council have passed an ordinance prohibiting the shooting of robins and other small birds in the vicinity of Halifax. The law will be strictly enforced, and parties violating it, will be severely dealt with. It is about time that a stop was put to the wanton destruction of the birds allied to man.

The Halifax Express says the following additional sums have been received from Out for the relief of distressed fishermen: Town of Dalhousie, $238.89; Village of Yorkville, $176.85; County of Brant, $210.90.

We hear it stated that the Minister of Marine intends having life-boat stations formed on the most exposed parts of the Dominion coasts. Previous to the Union, a Life-boat Association was formed for Nova Scotia in connection with the Provincial Naval Brigade. On learning that the Minister of Marine had similar views, the promoters of the Association considered it would be better to leave the matter in such able hands, and accordingly forwarded to Ottawa the plans of life-boats, &c., and much valuable information obtained by them from the Royal National Life-boat Association.

The Berwick Star says: "We regret to learn that many of our active young men are leaving the country for the States. Three vessels have recently left the County walls shore, carrying with them about thirty-six, the most part of whom are young men."

The International Company have placed two boats on the route between St. John and Boston, via Portland. The steamer Empress, in connection with the boats, will commence running between Windsor and St. John, N. B., on Wednesday next.

A correspondent of the Mining Gazette at Unisack writes:—"I find by the returns that the Westlake Company have during the last quarter performed 201 days work, raised 255 tons of quartz, crushed 543 tons, and obtained 652 oz. 10 dwts. 5 grs. of gold, which will give 1 oz. 6 dwts. and 1 gr. for each day's work during the quarter. From the Hall property they are now taking the quartz raised for the last two months to the crusher, and it promises a better return than any yet taken out. They have erected a gin house on their old shaft, and have opened a new shaft about 150 feet deep. The Unisack Company have just crushed their quartz raised last month; 87 tons gave 155 oz. 10 dwts. 5 grs. Of this 40 tons was from the north lode, and gave just $300, to the ton at a depth of 125. From the Hall property they are now taking the quartz raised for the last two months to the crusher, and it promises a better return than any yet taken out. They have erected a gin house on their old shaft, and have opened a new shaft about 150 feet deep. The lode here is about four feet six inches thick, with good looking ore, and shows some good specimens. Thompson's Railway Journal, in an article on the present and future of the Great Western Railway of Canada, pronounces it a "good sound concern, and well managed." It adds that the working expenses are a little below the usual English rate, although the line is in a state where the climate is so adverse against economical railway working.

A Kick for a Blow.—A lady, whose husband had for several Sundays following been jeeringly telling her, that the great motive which would lead him in going to church was merely to display their bonnets, at last lost all patience, and said to him: "Then sir, I suppose the reason why you gentlemen so rarely come to church is because you cannot show your hats!"

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.—First class in philosophy stand up. "Thibits, what is life?" Life consists of money, a fast horse, and a fashionable wife. "What is poverty?" The reward of merit which genius receives from a distinguished public. "What is religion?" Doing unto others as you please, allowing them to return the compliment. "What is fame?" A six line puff in newspaper.

The following curious story is taken from an old work—let the person must pick a handkerchief from the pocket of a maid of fifty years, who has never had a wish to change her condition, and she must wash it in an honest man's pool, 3d, he must dry it on a person's hedge, who was never covetous; 4th, he must send it to a doctor's shop who never filled a patient; 5th, he must mark it with a lawyer's ink who never cheated a client; 6th, apply it to the part affected, and cure will speedily follow.

Twenty-five New Locomotives for the "Grand Trunk."—We have received the March 30th number of the English scientific periodical Engineering. This number has a peculiar interest for Canadian readers inasmuch as it contains a splendid two-page engraving, as well as a full description of a locomotive for our Grand Trunk Railway, constructed by Messrs. Neilson & Co., Glasgow, from the design of Mr. Richard Eason, of this city, locomotive superintendent of the line. This locomotive is one of 35, now being built at Glasgow for the Grand Trunk Co., the Messrs. Neilson having been supplied from Canada with drawings of every detail, and also plates of the more important parts. For an idea of the general construction of the engines, their principal dimensions, also certain peculiarities and improvements in connection with them, we refer the reader to the above-mentioned number of the engineering journal itself.—Montreal Witness.

THIS COMPANY is duly incorporated under Cap. 23, Consolidated Statutes of Canada,

for the purpose of working the mineral veins upon sixteen acres of Lot No. 19, in the fifth concession of Madoc, (the Richardson Mine being No. 19 in the same concession.)

A shaft has been sunk to the depth of nine feet in the rock. At six feet a gold-bearing lode was struck, of 18 inches in width, which at nine feet has increased to 24 feet, and a crushing at Gilbert & Turley's mill of four and one-half tons of the rock, gave a yield of over 100 lbs. of gold in the lode, the lode is clearly defined, and evidently extends the whole length of the property—32 rods.

The territory is admirably situated for mining purposes, being a high ridge covered with indications of mineral veins. There are numerous places on the land fully as promising as the one on which the shaft has been sunk, and which would unquestionably

yield as well. The large quantity of land, and the prospects of other gold-bearing veins,

make it certain that the Company will be able to subdivide the property as soon as a little further development has been made, and form other Companies at great advantage.

Work is being vigorously prosecuted in the shaft, under the superintendence of JOHN G.

SHURTZ, one of the Directors, who is largely interested in the property of the mine, and who has had thirteen years' practical experience in the gold mines of California and Nevada, and is unquestionably the most accomplished quartz miner now in this country.

It is intended to have a further crushing in a few days, and negotiations are in progress

which, if carried out, will secure a mill to the Company at once, so that regular work will be gone on with without delay, and dividends may, in that case, be expected in a short time.

FIRE AND LIFE.
LIFE DEPARTMENT.

THE principles on which this Company is founded contain all the elements required
to develop the benefits of Life Assurance, and afford every facility to intending assureds—
One of the advantages secured by those who insure their lives with this Company is that the outside expenditure for Management is absolutely restricted by the Dues of Settlement
to Ten per Cent. of the Net Life
Income. This most important restriction
shows that the interests of participating policy
holders are closely watched and carefully attended to by the Company. Union is especially called to this point, as the proportion of premiums expended for Management
Must Largely Influence Profits
and Bonuses.

The next division of profits takes place in 1893, and all those who wish to participate in the profits should insure at once.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

OTTAWA, April 21st, 1889.

THE GEOLOGICAL APPROPRIATION.

The Hon. Mr. Ross moved the House into Committee on the appropriation for five years to Sir William Logan and staff.

Mr. PARKER, called the attention of the Government to the unfavorable reports which were in circulation in connection with parties connected with the staff. It was currently reported that certain favorites could always obtain the earliest information, which gave them advantages that others did not possess, and it would be well to see that this was true, so as to be prevented in future.

The Hon. Mr. Ross was sure that Sir William Logan was not a party to anything of the kind, he was altogether too honorable a man, to be guilty of any such act.

Mr. McKEWEN, also defended Sir William Logan against any such imputation.

Mr. BOWELL—However much remarks which reflect upon those who hold high positions in the country, or those under their control may be circulated, the remarks of the member for Centre Wellington
(Mr. PARKER) are nevertheless too true.
There are people in the country who do believe that certain favored persons receive information in advance of the general public, and that certain persons connected with the staff give reports which are in favor of one section of the Dominion at the expense of another. So far as the region of North Hastings and that part of the country is concerned, these scientific reports have done nothing, comparatively speaking, towards bringing the mineral wealth of Central Canada into note. On the contrary, until very lately, they would scarcely admit that the precious metals existed at all. He did not include Sir Wm. Logan in these remarks, as that gentleman's name had never been mentioned in connection with any transaction of a questionable character, nor do I say that others have been guilty of anything wrong; but it were a mistake to deny that reports are in circulation, such as to justify the remarks which have been made. While upon this subject, he desired to call the attention of the Government to a petition which he had presented that day from the corporation of the County of Hastings, praying for the establishment of a school of mines in connection with the Geological Department of Canada. These schools had been established in England, and proved of great benefit to the country,
in teaching the young men of the country
the properties of all kinds of ores and quarries, and the mode by which they could be worked. This petition set forth the important facts that valuable deposits of gold and almost every other metals and minerals of great economic value exist in various parts of Canada yet but partially developed, and the encouragement should be given to those engaged in attempting to develop these valuable deposits, and that the greatest difficulty exists in procuring persons properly qualified to make preliminary investigations and assays, to justify the outlay necessary to discover the places where mining can be profitably carried on. The establishment of such a school, as is completed by this memorial, would be of no extra expense to the country. Sir William Logan's staff is quite sufficient for all the purposes, provided the students would pay a small fee to cover the cost of procuring ores and the necessary instruments. It would also provide a good school for the students of geology. Such a school would turn out a class of men in whom miners could place confidence, and relieve them from the empirics who have so long infested every mining district in Canada.
This was an important question, and he wished every man who desired the early development of mineral and economic wealth was deeply interested, and he hoped the Government would give it its early passing notice, but this request attention.
A moment's reflection would show the importance, in a new country like ours, of aiding as much as possible the development of the wealth which lies hidden in the bowels of the earth, and the knew of no way in which this could be done so well and so cheaply as the establishment of a school of mines in Montreal, in connection with the Geological staff, so liberally supported by the country. (Hear, Hear.)

Mr. GRANT was sorry that the hon. member for North Hastings had spoken of the report made by the gentlemen who had investigated the minerals in his county, in the manner in which he had. The reports made by Prof. Bell of the gold regions of North Hastings, and of Nova Scotia, had proved to be accurate in every particular. The results of the investigation in that county had not yet proved the in-correctness of these reports; he trusted the mines would turn out rich, but the hon.
member should not have spoken in the manner he had done of these gentlemen.

Mr. BOWELL had but a few words to say in reply to the hon. member for Russell—Prof. Bell was not the party to whom the mines were turned over, and he would have his friend to thank for gratuitously dragging his name into this discussion, but he would say that the remarks made by the hon. member proved that the very little of what had been talking about he would inform him, that a more incorrect, nonsensical, and absurd report than

Almost There.

"I am almost there!"
Said a dying child,
As he upward looked
And sweetly smiled.
"The happy here," he said,
Of the best I see,
And an angel band
Awaiting me."
"I am almost there!"
But do not weep—
In a Saviour's arms
'Tis sweet to sleep—
And he closed his eyes,
And gently placed
His feet beside Across his breast.
"I am almost there!"
Sweet Jesus, now,
And the drama of death
O'erwhelmed his brow,
And his brightening features
Almost smiled.
As he went home,
The dying child.

Cornered.

In the reign of James I., tobacco eating notoriety, the boys of school acquired the habit of smoking, and indulged in it, night and day, using the most ingenious expedients to conceal the vice from their master;
till one luckless evening, when the imps were huddled together round the fire of their dormitory, involving each other in vapors of their own concoction, in burst
the master and stood in awful dignity before them.
"Sir," said the boy, "I am subject to headaches, and a pipe takes off the pain."
"And you?" said the master, "you?" inquired the pedagogue, questioning every boy in his turn.
One had a raging tooth; another a colic;
the third a cough; in short, they all had something.
"Now sir," cried the doctor to the last boy,
"what disorder do you smoke for?"
Alas! all the excuses were exhausted;
but the interrogated,urchin, standing down his pipe, after a foreword whiff, and looking up in his master's face, said, in a whining, hypocritical tone, "Sir, I smoke for coughs!"
DANCING.—At a small party, a young theological student, not particularly noted for elegance of manner, or talent, or extraordinary piety, being urged by some young ladies to join in a quadrille, then forming, declined somewhat rudely; and turning a lady by, asked, with rather an imposing air, "Do you think, Mrs. L., that a man ought to dance who expects to fill a pulpit?"
The lady replied, "I don't see why he should not, provided he have grace for both!"

THIS COMPANY is duly incorporated under Cap. 28, Consolidated Statutes of Canada, for the purpose of working the mineral veins upon sixteen acres of Lot No. 19, in the fifth concession of Madoc, (the Richardson Mine) No. 18 in the same concession.

A shaft has been sunk to the depth of nine feet in the rock. At six feet a gold-bearing lode was struck, of 18 inches in width, which at nine feet has increased to 24 feet, and a crushing at Gilbert & Turley's mill of four and one-half tons of the rock, gave a yield of over three dollars in gold; the lode is clearly defined, and evidently extends the whole length of the property—52 rods.

The territory is admirably situated for mining purposes, being a high ridge covered with indications of mineral veins. There are numerous places on the land fully as promising as the one on which the shaft has been sunk, and which would unquestionably yield as well. The large quantity of land, and the prospects of other gold-bearing veins, make it certain that the Company will be able to subdivide the property as soon as a little further development has been made, and form other Companies at great advantage.

Work is being vigorously prosecuted in the shaft, under the superintendence of JOHN G.
SHURTZ, Esq., one of the Directors, who is largely interested in the proprietary of the mine, and who has had thirteen years' practical experience in the gold mines of California and Nevada, and is unquestionably the most accomplished quartz miner now in this country.

It is intended to have further crushing in a few days, and negotiations are in progress which, if carried out, will secure a mill to the Company at once, so that regular work will be gone on with without delay, and dividends may, in that case, be expected in a short time.

QUEEN
INSURANCE COMPANY

FIRE AND LIFE.
LIFE DEPARTMENT.

THE principles on which this Company is founded contain all the elements required
to develop the benefits of Life Assurance, and
afford every facility to intending assured.
One of the advantages secured by those who insure their lives with this Company is that the outside expenditure for Management is absolutely restricted by the Board of Solicitors to Ten per Cent of the Net Life Income. This most important restriction assures that the interests of participating policy holders are closely watched and carefully attended to by the Company. Attention is especially called to this point, as the proportion of premiums expended for Management
Must Largely Influence Profits
and Dividends.

The next division of profits takes place in 1888, and all those who wish to participate in the profits should insure at once.
